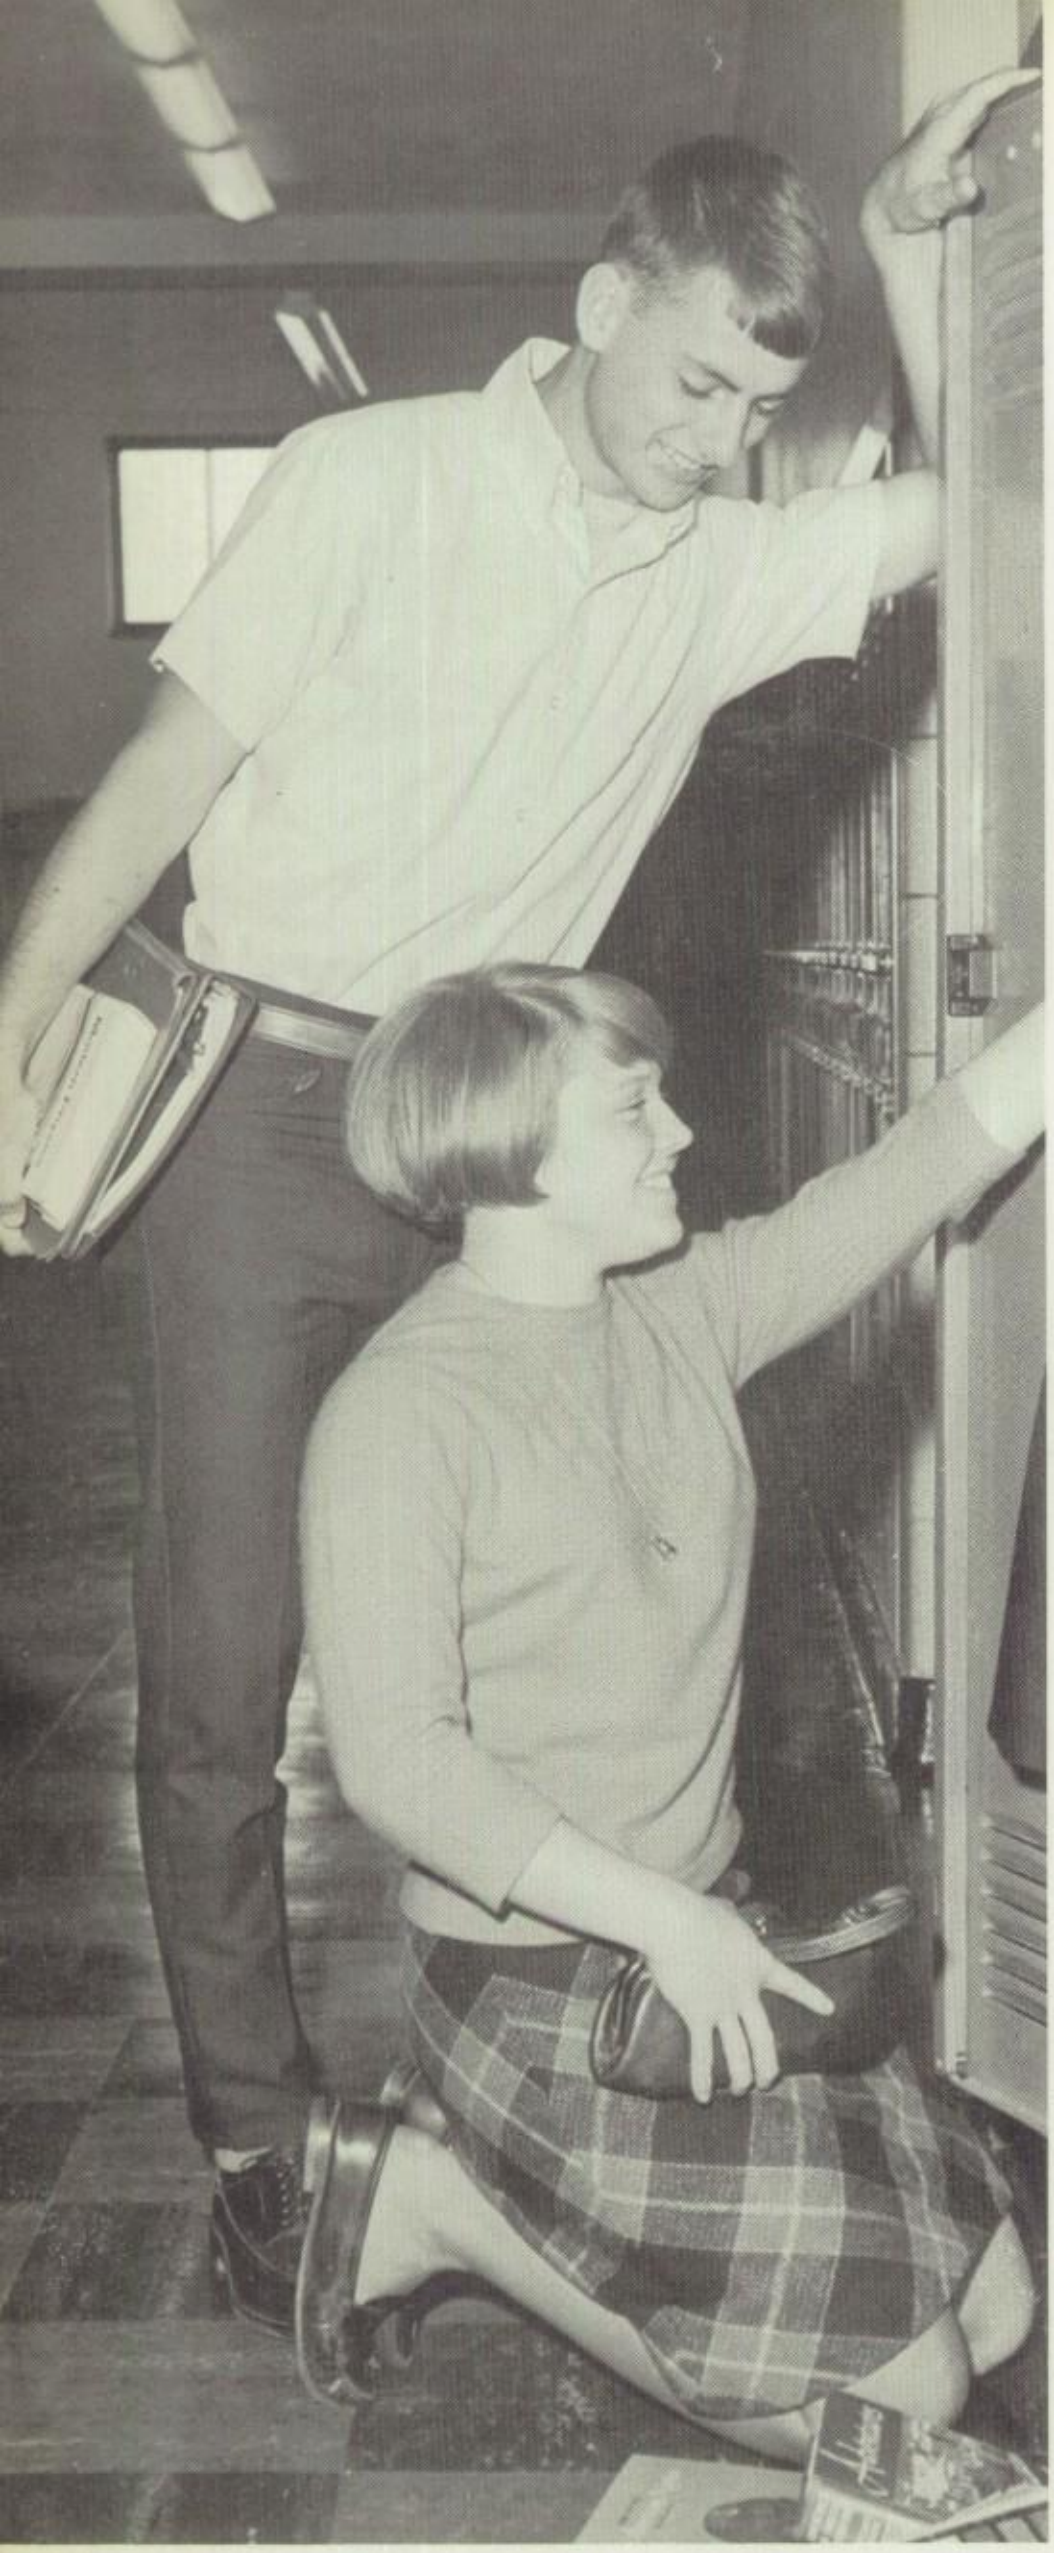
Student activities center in school's heart, Social Hall

Days at Big Red begin in the heart of the school, Social Hall. For 30 years, Social Hall has been a place for renewing friendships and relaxing before classes. Holding many memories, it has witnessed both laughter and tears over successes and failures, triumphs and disappointments. It has served as a stage for pep rallies and a display case at Christmas. The walls are constantly plastered with signs and posters for upcoming games and elections.

After school, the rush goes on with club meetings, jobs and homework. Buzzing Pete's for a coke or eating a pizza at the Pizza Place occupies extra time. Weekends are filled with games, mixers and last-minute Sunday night cramming.



Stopping at Charlie Sage's locker after fifth hour, Joanne Fassnacht gets her history book.

Celebrating a football victory with a piping hot pizza are Christina Granberg and Nancy Alexander.

After a day's absence, Queen Ester Gray waits in the office to receive her absentee slip.

Removing her sign from Social Hall, Debbie Moulden carefully folds it to take to the SM North game.

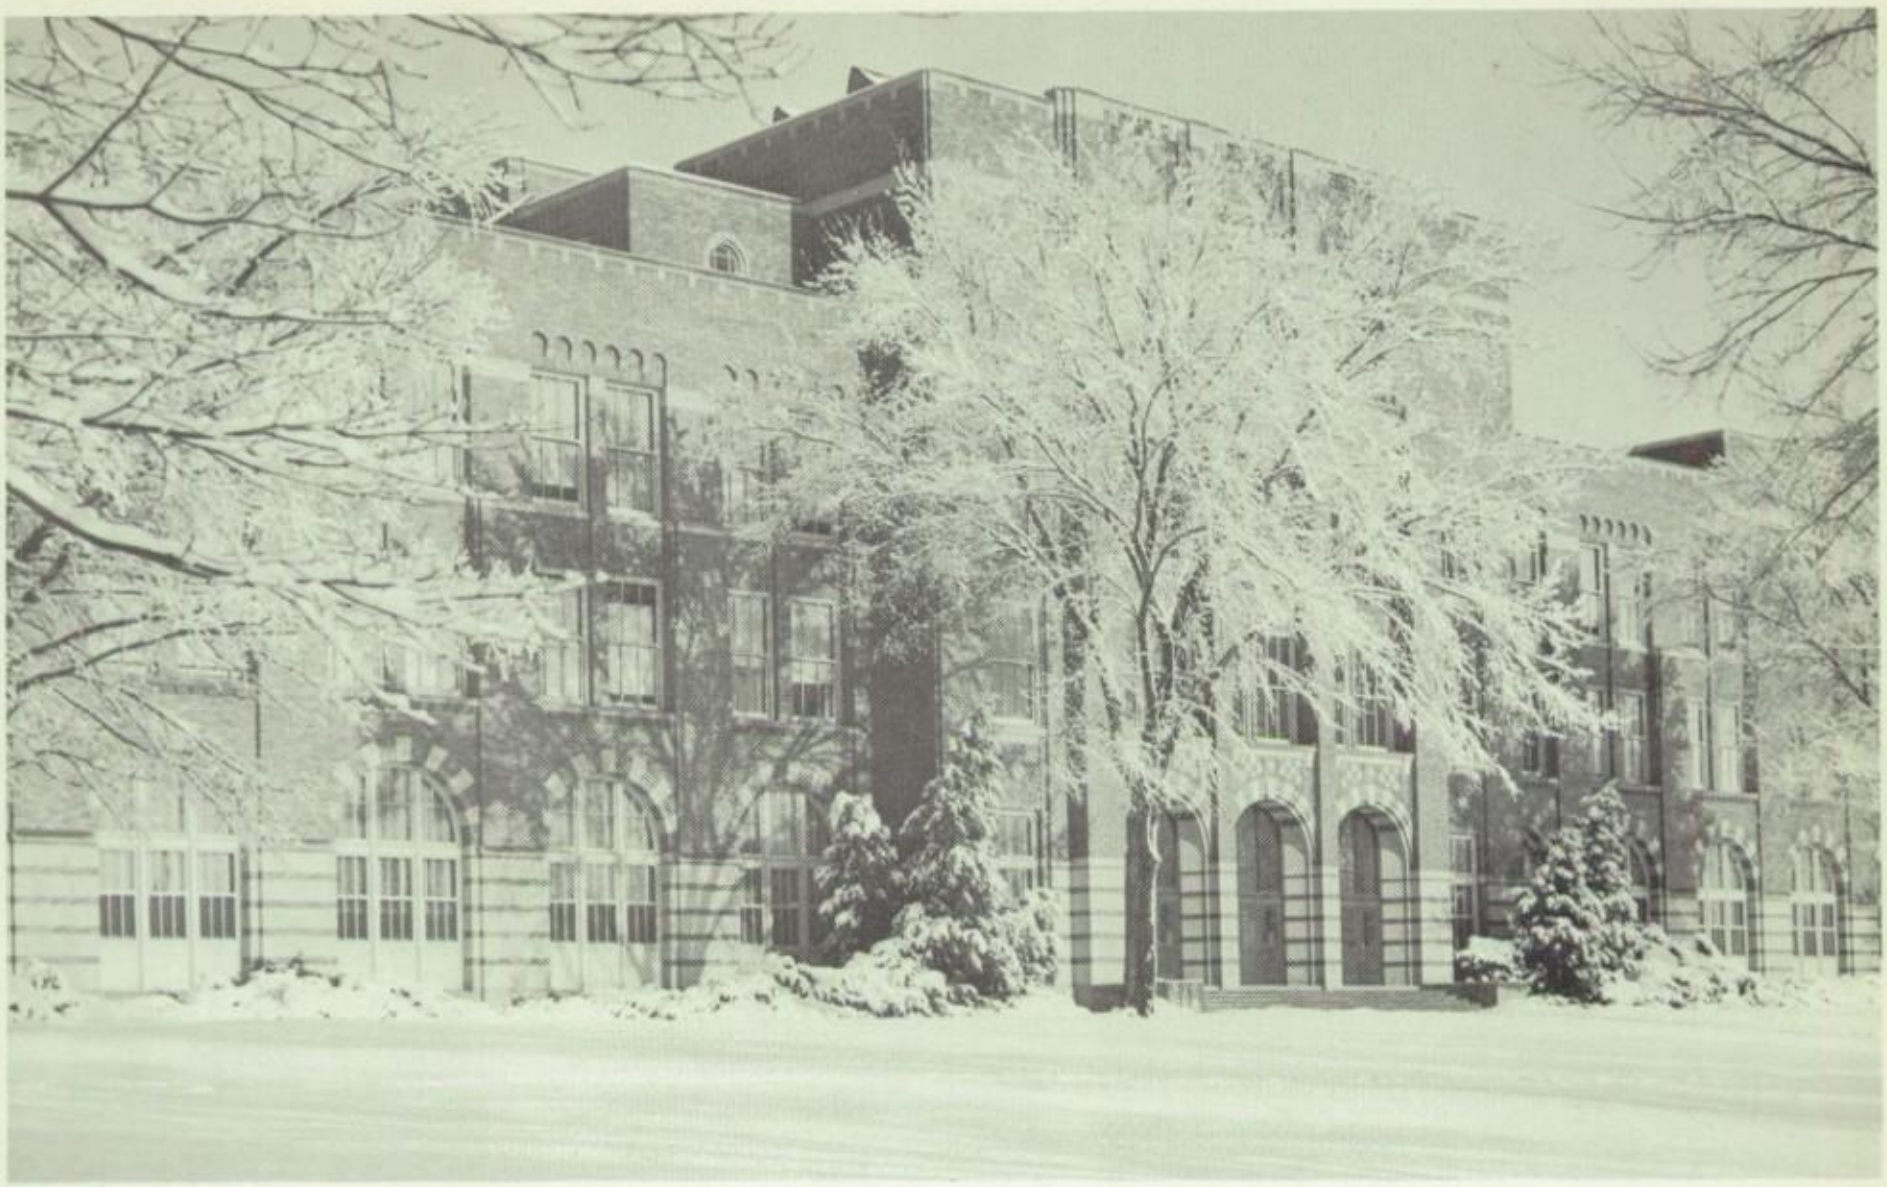
Another rainy autumn day brings torrents of rain falling on students as they rush for refuge through the open doors of the school.

Snowstorms transform campus into a winter wonderland

As winter approached, Wyandotte's campus became a snowy wonderland. The 22-acre campus makes Wyandotte one of the biggest schools in the Mid West, accommodating some 3,000 students. The present building was opened in 1937 after fire destroyed the old building at 9th and Minnesota. The stately twin towers and unique landscaping have made the campus a state landmark.

With the heavy but beautiful snow came fun and problems. Disregarding their usual maturity, students romped in the snow, playing snow football and "smear-'em". Problems involved with the snows included absences from colds and flu and a lack of transportation.

Snow covers the towers and the campus as near zero temperatures prompt students to rush through the front doors following the final bell and to run to the warmth of a car and a ride home.



"Enclosed in a tumultuous privacy of storm," the trees and bushes bend low with the extra weight of snow and ice, framing the back entrance of the building in a snow-bound effect.

Icy blasts of cold air greet students as they leave school after another day of semester tests.

Bewildered sophomores listen as Marcia Lewis explains the school's floor plan at orientation.

Girls League orientation welcomes sophomore girls

Girls League, the largest high school organization in the state of Kansas, sponsored many activities throughout the year. Over 400 sophomore girls were introduced to the school at the annual orientation in late August. Sophomores were also introduced to Big Red's clubs at the annual assembly held for all girls.

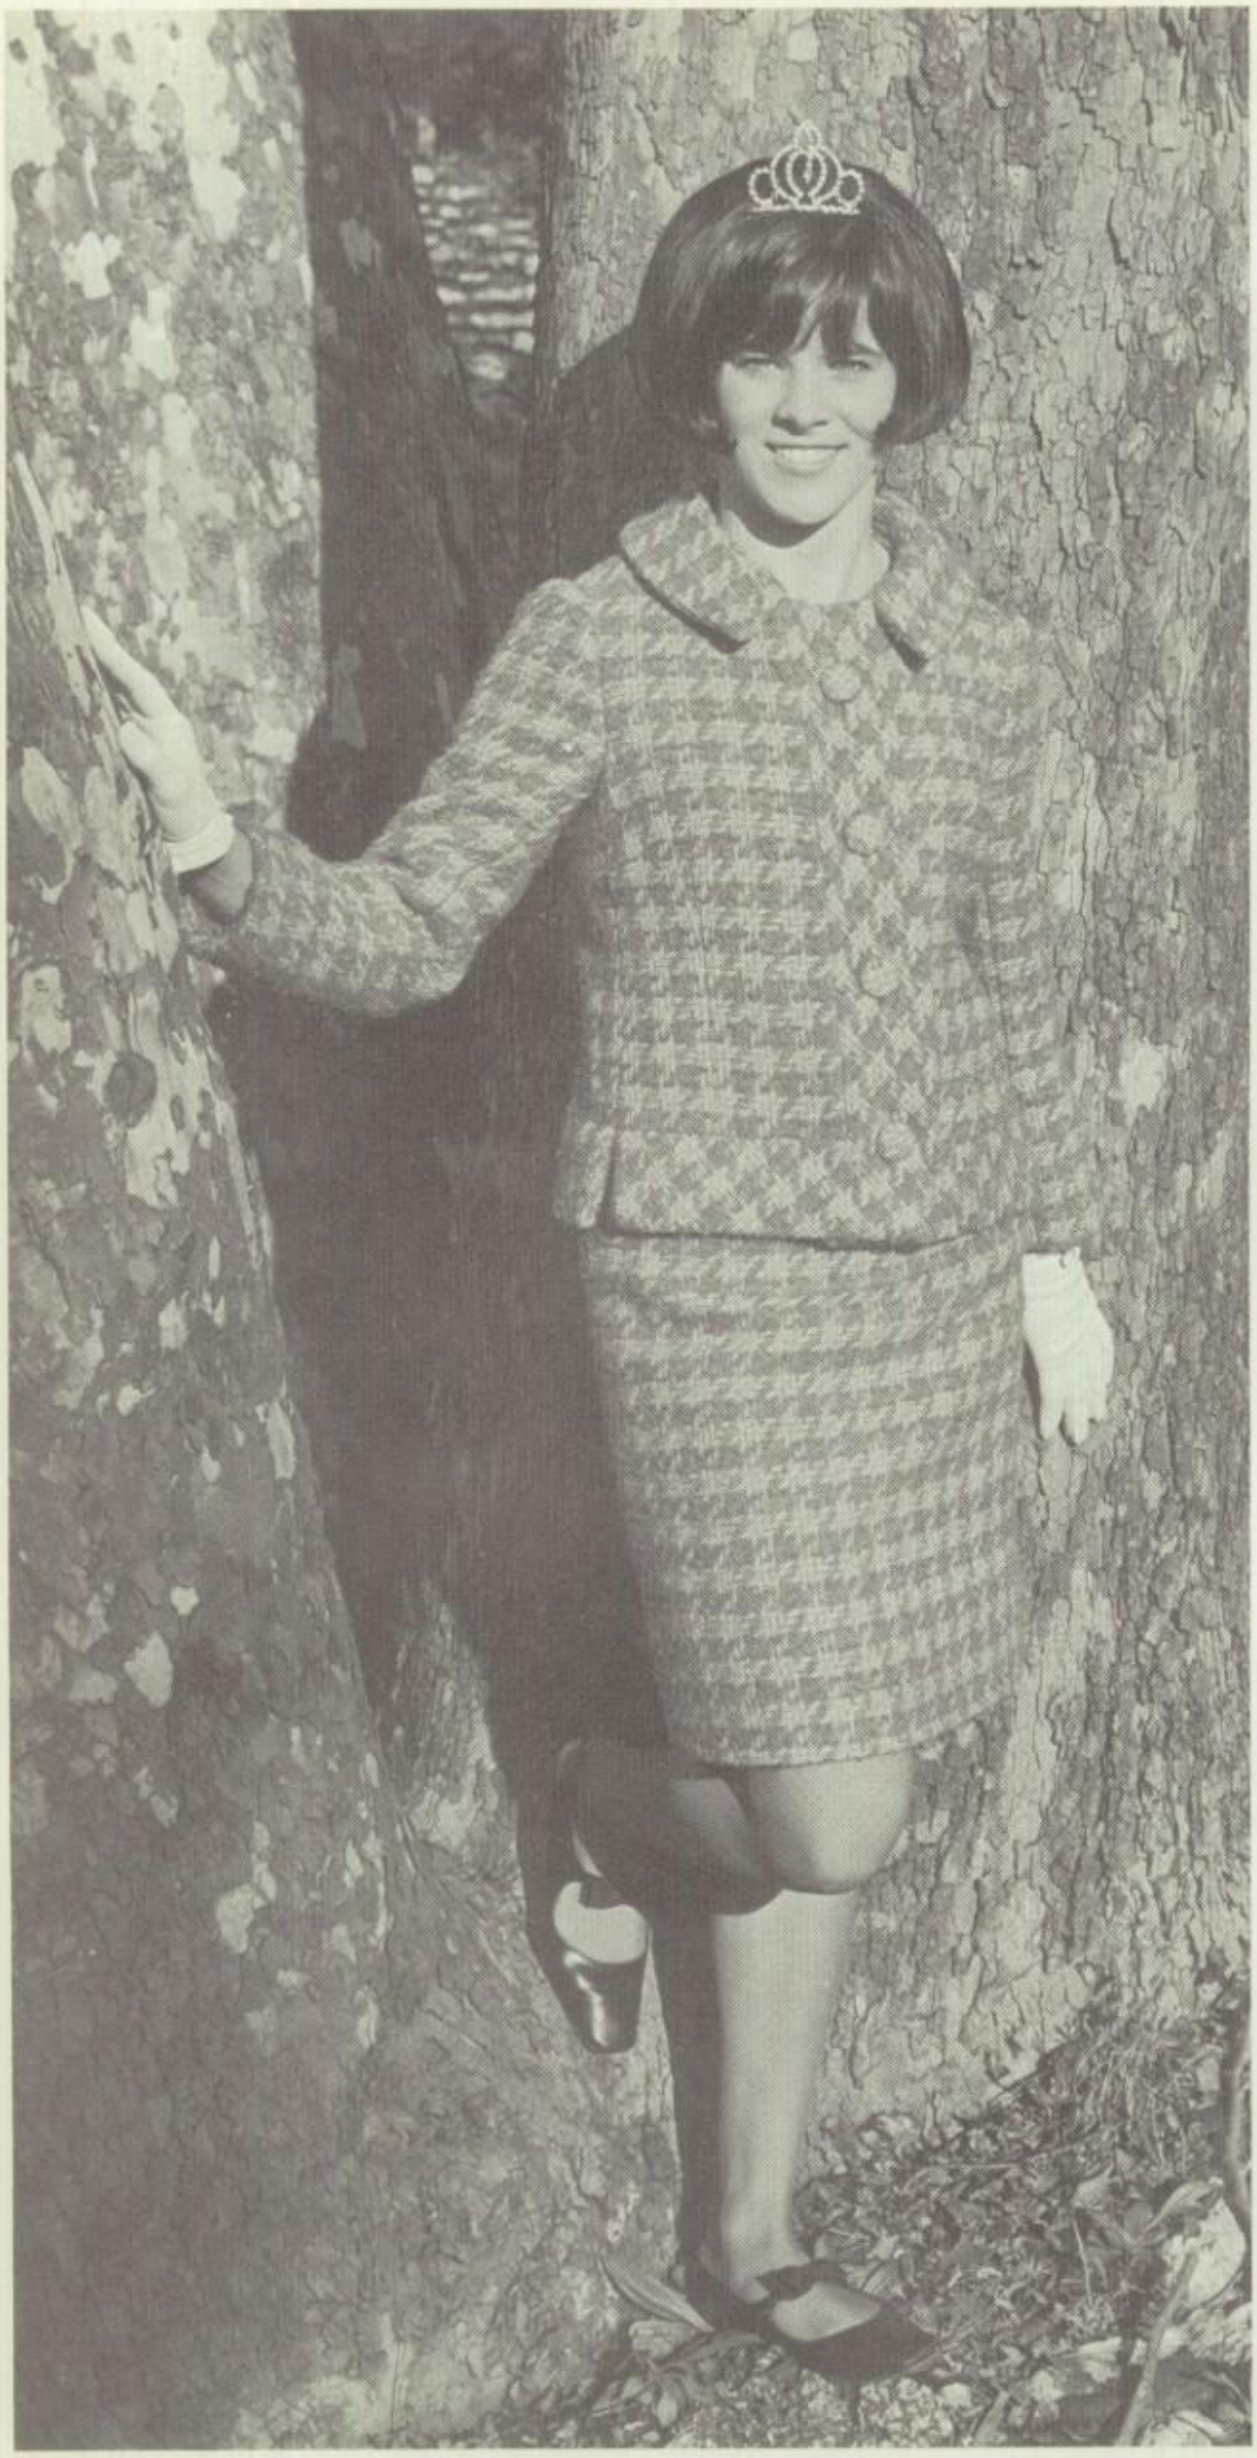
Mothers and daughters enjoyed a fun-filled evening of dining and singing at the Mother-Daughter Banquet. After eating, the girls and their mothers watched as the new officers were installed. Ending the year with their final event, the League sponsored the Quiverian Catch-Up.

At the Girls League Assembly, Kay Cee president Marylyn Waters invites Nancy Alexander to stay under the "Big Red Top." Nancy decides to stay, and the whole circus celebrates with a pep rally.

A Brazilian Barbecue is enjoyed by Donna Wells and her mother at the Mother-Daughter Banquet. Following the dinner and the singing was the installation of the new Girls League officers.

At the Quiverian Catch-Up, Pam Schmitz searches for the right words to express her feelings.

Introducing the next act of the Girls League Assembly is the Big Top's Ringmaster, Rick Golub.



1967 Homecoming Queen Carol Holliday

Downpour fails to dampen excitement of Homecoming

Eager fans and anxious participants were disappointed as the traditional half-time ceremonies were washed out by a week of hard rain. This was the first time in years that the ceremony had to be cancelled. As a result of the cancellation, the traditional announcement and crowning of the Queen and her court were postponed until the dance the following night.

In addition to the disappointed royalty was the Marching Band who had spent weeks rehearsing an intricate marching routine for half-time festivities. However, the downpour failed to dampen the team's spirit as the Bulldogs forged ahead to beat the Topeka West Chargers and win their first home game of the season.

Forming the traditional honor guard on the soggy field were senior Kay Cees and the Honor Pep members. As the team ran onto the field, the pepsters freed over 150 red and white helium balloons.

The 1967 Homecoming Princesses are Marylyn Waters and Marsha Angell.

Dancing to the music of "The Renegades," over 450 couples experiment with new dance steps.

Homecoming Royalty reigns at Stairway to the Stars

A record number of over 900 watched as the royal court was presented and Carol Holliday was crowned the 1967 Homecoming Queen. Carol received the crown from Basketball Letterman John Poindexter. Returning to carry out the tradition of giving the new Queen a dozen red roses was the 1966 Homecoming Queen, Ann Pittman.

Creating a heaven-like effect, the entrance included a fountain and a white parachute cloud ceiling. Also, a Stariway to the Stars was made by a spillway of stars cascading down the stairs. Centerpieces, consisting of small stirofoam blocks stacked as stairs, were placed on the tables in the dining room where chaperones served guests punch and cake. Couples danced the night away to the music of "The Renegades."

Waiting for punch and cake, friends talk about the Homecoming victory over the Topeka West Chargers.

Old folks home is setting for The Silver Whistle

A Broadway play, The Silver Whistle was presented as the annual Kay Cee Play. The four year Broadway hit took place in an unusual old folks' home. In the play, a young tramp convinced the residents that they were only as young as they thought they were. Advising and helping the director, Mr. Knapp, was the student director, Kathy Endorf.

CAST: Dan Baxley, Mr. Bebe; Doris Renfrow, Mrs. Hammer; Sandy Storms, Miss Hoadley; Pat Terbovich, Miss Tripp; De Miller, Reverend Watson; Barbara Johnson, Mrs. Sampler; Joan Leapheart, Mrs. Gross; Keith Ketchell, Oliver Erwenter; Gary Waters, Emmett; Jack Deal, Bishop; David Baker, Father Shay; Wallace Brewer, Mr. Beach; Chris Harris, Mr. Ready; Steve Weaver, Mr. Cherry.

Beginning to feel young and sprite again, Mr. Bebe giggles at the thought of playing croquet.

Mr. Cherry, Mrs. Hammer and Miss Hoadley listen as Mrs. Gross argues that man is overtaken by sin.

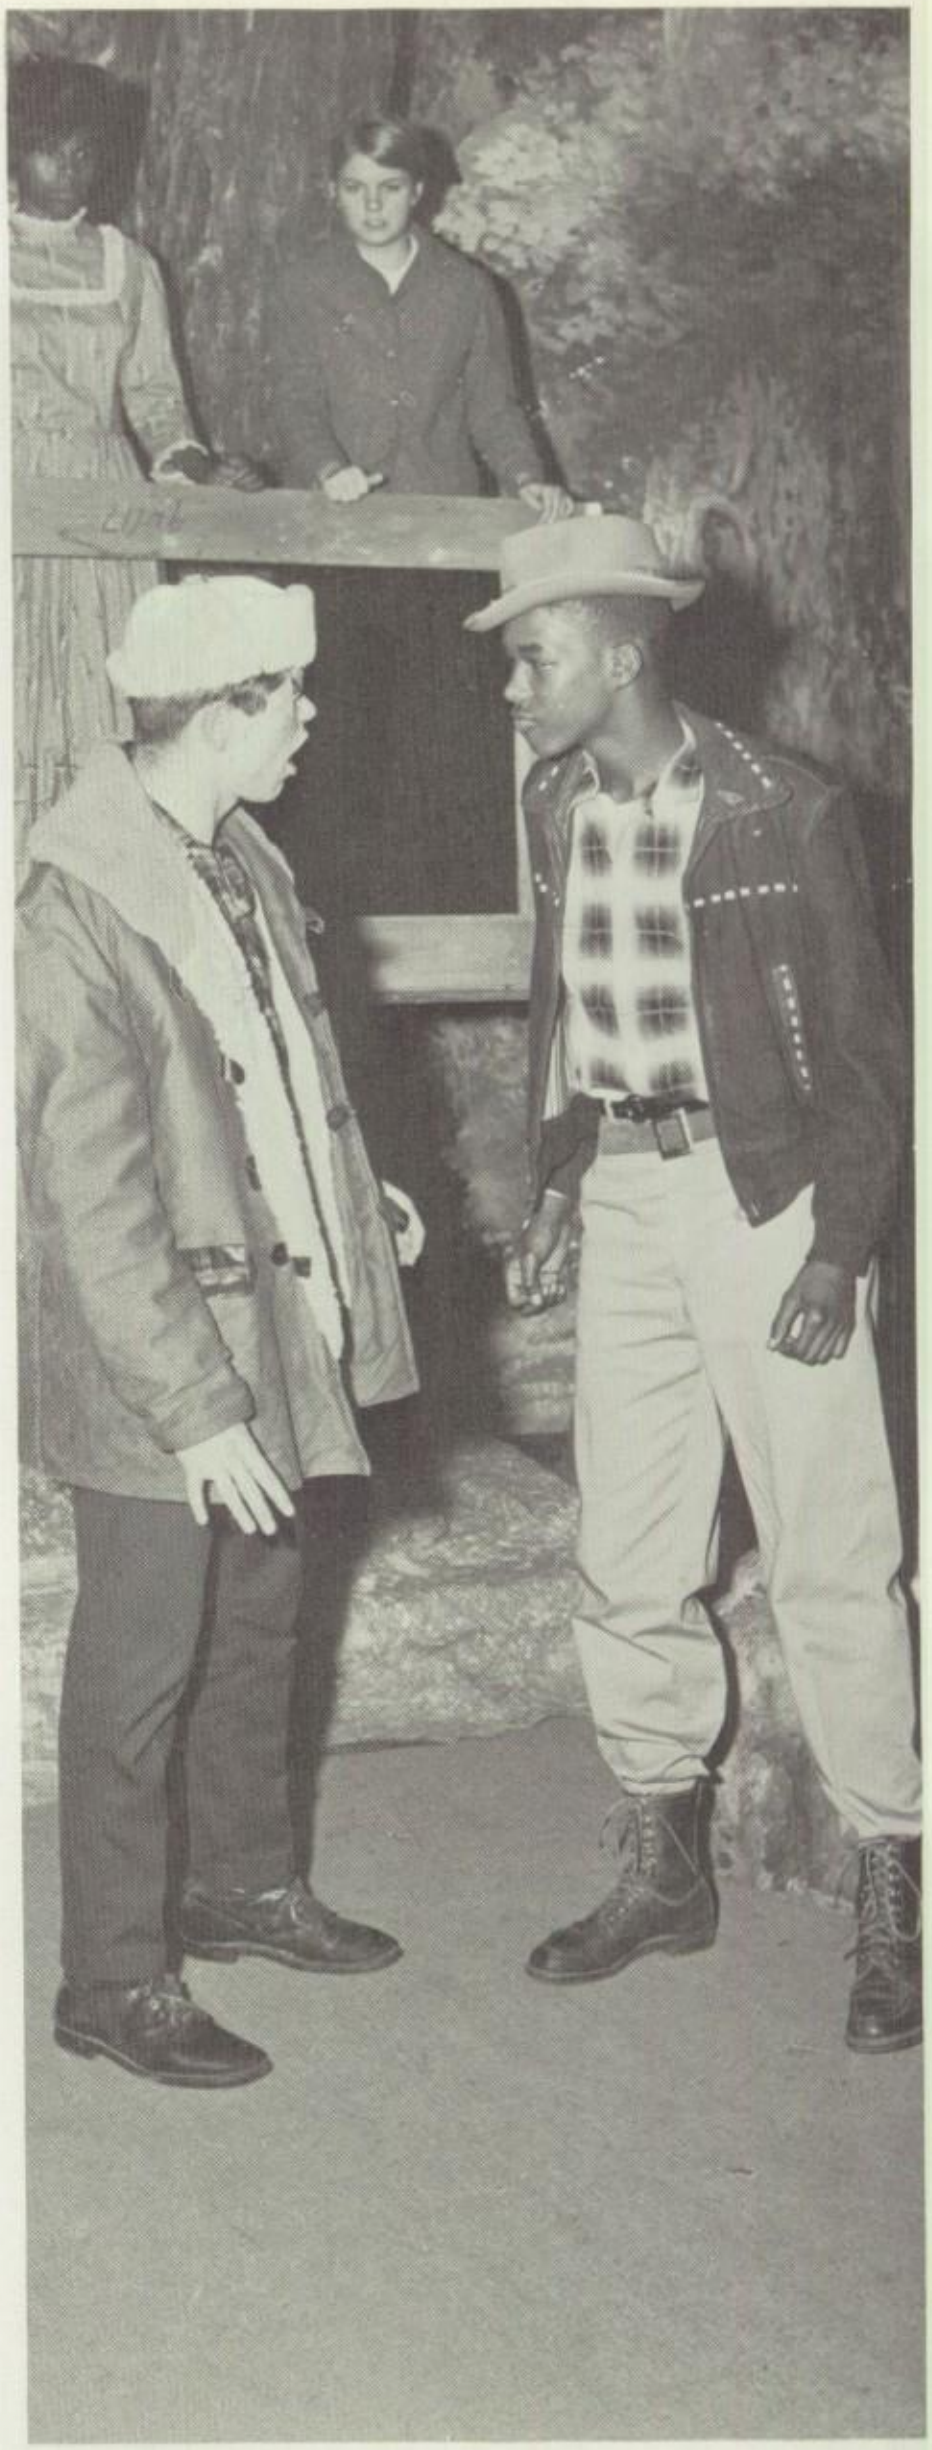
Thoroughly enjoying a forbidden drink of wine are Mr. Cherry, Mr. Bebe and Mr. Erwenter.

As flirt of the old folks' home, Mr. Bebe feels the magic of thinking young as he chases Mrs. Sampler.

Mr. Knapp points out a humorous passage in the play to his student director, Kathy Endorf.

Dr. Morris Ritz tries to bribe Dolly for her formula as Miss Baby Love Dallas applies cosmetics.

Dolly wonders if she was right in leaving Verena's house as Catherine and the Judge console her.



Warning the sheriff not to push him around is the elderly Judge Charlie Cool.

Capote's The Grass Harp presented by Drama Club

In an attempt to offer more current and well known plays, the Drama Club presented Truman Capote's THE GRASS HARP. In the play, a young woman who is very dependent on her sister, learns to live her own life. She takes her maid and her brother and goes to live in a tree house. Student director, Keith Ketchell, helped the director, Mr. Knapp in the play's production.

While finishing a jigsaw puzzle, Dolly and Collin plan a trip to gather herbs for Dolly's cure.

Unwilling to reveal her secret recipe for her "dropsy cure," Dolly remains silent as Dr. Morris Ritz and Verena ask her for information. Refusing to tell, Dolly, Catherine and Collin go live in a tree.

Annual Christmas Formal presented by Girls League

Representatives Terri Schasteen, Ann Heider and Marilyn Adams work on crepe paper poppies.

Adding to the excitement of the Christmas season, the Girls League held its annual Christmas Formal on December 9 at the National Guard Armory. Weeks before the Formal, Council members and representatives were busy making yellow and red poppies which were arranged in black flower pots for centerpieces on the tables.

"Mediterranean Ecstasy," the theme of the Formal, provided an old world atmosphere. Small, white twinkling lights were arranged in the black streamer ceiling. Dominating the entrance-way was a tree decorated with red bows and lace paper doilies. Refreshments were served by chaperones.

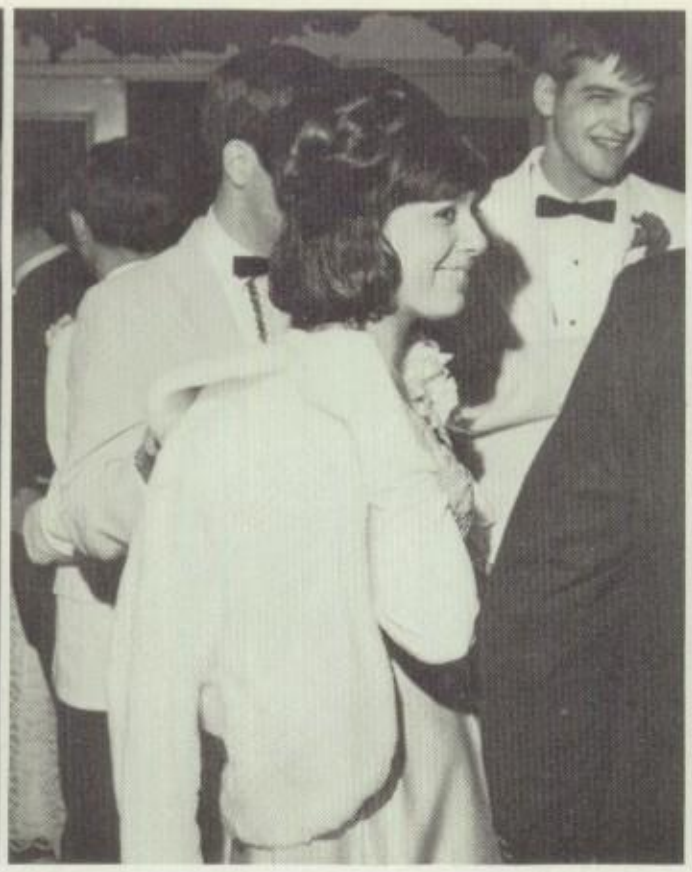
Chuck Inzerillo and his group completed the romantic atmosphere as couples danced until 11 in the mystical ecstasy.

Explaining the placement of centerpieces for the Formal is Girls League President Jennifer McClanahan. Council members and representatives decorated the Armory to resemble a "Mediterranean Ecstasy."

Saturday morning before the Formal, Carolyn Spohr and Debbie Bailey measure and cut paper for tablecloths for the Formal. The tables were decorated with streamers of red and yellow crepe paper.

New sponsor of the Girls League, Miss Kentner assists in the preparation of the Christmas Formal.

Adding a finishing touch of green crepe paper to the centerpieces is Council member Freda Cleveland.



Arriving at her first Christmas Formal, Mavi Pinanez, escorted by Jim Stone, talks with friends. Mavi and Jim, along with 275 other couples, danced to the music of Chuck Inzerillo and his group.

A break for refreshments provides Mavi with time to enjoy a cup of punch with friends.

Mr. Corporon greets Mavi and her friends as they wait for the intermission to end.

Foreign exchange student attends Christmas Formal

Experiencing a new episode in life at Wyandotte, Mavi Pinanez, AFS student from Paraguay, attended the annual Girls League Christmas Formal. After confirming her date with Jim Stone, Mavi began the search for her dress. The day of the dance arrived with a rush for Mavi to get ready and buy a boutonniere for Jim.

Mavi and Jim arrived at the dance to find themselves entering a "Mediterranean Ecstasy." Throughout the evening they danced under a canopy of twinkling lights to the music of Chuck Inzerillo and his group.

To Mavi, the formal was "exciting and wonderful," especially because she wore her first floor-length formal. After the last dance, Mavi and Jim completed a perfect evening of dancing and enjoyment.

Enjoying the last dance, Mavi and Jim complete an evening at the Christmas Formal.

Unseasonably cold weather during winter vacation did not keep students from having fun in the snow.

Christmas season brings the assembly and vacation

As the Christmas season approached, an air of excitement developed in the halls of Big Red. Art classes lined the walls of Social Hall with a huge paper package for each teacher. The windows were decorated with colorful stained glass designs, and in the middle of Social Hall stood a majestic pine tree adorned with red and gold balls.

Foreign language classes caroled in the halls before school the week before Christmas. Excitement prevailed as the final week of school ended with the annual Christmas Assembly.

Differing from other years, the Christmas Assembly consisted of an all-musical program performed by the instrumental and vocal groups. Narrator, Brian Smith, told the Christmas Story and the various meanings of the holiday season.

"Christmas is the joy of giving," according to Brian Smith who narrates the meanings of Christmas.

Brass Choir members Stanley Fleming, Paula Owen and Dale Kennedy play "While by My Sheep" at the Assembly. The brass section was located on the second floor by the Recital Hall to give a distant effect.

Spring Queen's coronation held during WyCo Relays

Balmy spring-like weather and the Wyandotte County Relays created an exciting atmosphere for the coronation of Spring Queen. Lettermen from spring sports chose 12 senior girls to run for Queen. The girls were nominated in early February and, following two all-school elections, the Queen was announced.

On April 16 at the 12th Annual Wyandotte County Relays, Nancy Cleveland was crowned 1968 Spring Queen. Completing the royal court were Princesses Jennifer McClanahan and Marylyn Waters.

The Queen and her attendants reigned over the remaining track events and activities and awarded medals to the winning participants in the relays.

Leap Year King John Poindexter

'68 Leap Year King rules over psychedelic 'Luv-In'

Leap Year '68 brought with it a new King and a psychedelic dance. Thus, for the second time this year, girls were given a chance to ask boys to a dance. The traditional once-every-four-years party was given on March 2 by the Girls League. The King was chosen by all girls of the school.

Jay Wilson, 1964 Leap Year King, relinquished his title as he returned to crown the new King, John Poindexter. John and his Princes, Steve Ulmer and Theodore Curry, were crowned at the beginning of the dance and reigned the rest of the evening.

Flashing lights and psychedelic patterns carried out the theme, "Leap Year Luv-In." The nationally known "Fabulous Four" provided the music for the discotheque atmosphere in the gym.

New outfits are selected by junior, senior pepsters

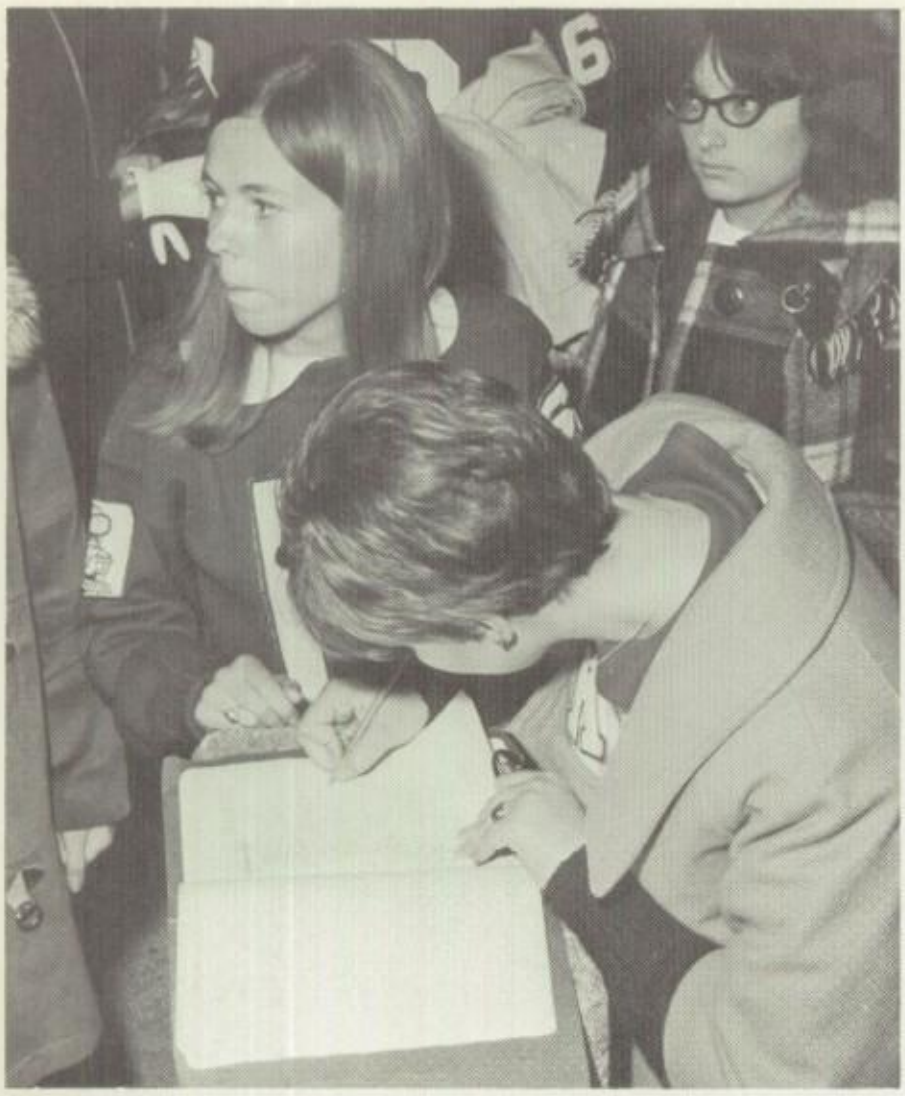
In keeping up with the times, Kay Cees adopted new pep uniforms for different segments of the club. While sophomores wore the traditional red and white sweaters, new uniforms of red jumpers and white blouses were worn by senior and junior pepsters.

Organized to support all sports, Kay Cees went to both home and away games. The mass of 500 girls in red constantly reminded the team that the pep club was behind them. Screaming and boisterous in victory, yet quiet and reserved in defeat, Kay Cees were a vital part of sports.

During the year, Kay Cees were involved in many activities including Homecoming and the Kay Cee Play, The Silver Whistle. Directing the club were Mr. Jackson, head sponsor and Miss Barfield, assistant.

Awaiting the outcome of the final minutes of play during the Washington football game, Pat Terbovich becomes emphatic with her pleas for a touchdown and the first victory of the 1967 season.

Stunned at the possibility of a fumble on the Lion's 10-yard line late in the third quarter, Bulldog boosters Nancy Ernst, Donna Martin, Ellen Thompson and Marcia Lewis scramble to their feet.



Checking in before the Ward game, Nancy Ernst waits to sign in with Mary Hassig.

Officers begin new projects to record Kay Cee events

To arouse additional school spirit and to provide a "sounding board" for members' ideas, the Kay Cee officers began the bi-monthly newsletter, The Canine Currier. In another attempt at keeping an accurate historical record of activities, a Kay Cee scrapbook was begun. Using a newly purchased camera, officers took snapshots of all club activities for the scrapbook.

Working their junior year to earn points, 39 girls were rewarded for their work by becoming members of Honor Pep. They were notified of their appointment to the special pep section during the summer. Honor Pep was in charge of all planning and decorating of Homecoming. Members were required to wrap goal posts and paint a sign for one home football game. During the basketball season, Honor Pepsters served as hostesses to the visiting teams.

Cheerleaders are elected to promote pep and spirit

For the first time, Kay Cee members were allowed a voice in the selection of Varsity and Reserve Cheerleaders. At the first try-outs, the top 12 girls for each squad were chosen by judges on the basis of coordination, appearance and poise. A week later, junior and sophomore members of Kay Cees voted and selected 12 girls to be cheerleaders.

Practice sessions were held four times a week during the summer and twice a week after school began. Striving to improve their form and ability, the cheerleaders attended several clinics and workshops during the year. Advising and helping the cheerleaders for the first time was Miss Rosemary Barfield.

Board and school leaders direct educational policies

After the rejection of a 17-million dollar bond issue in the fall, the Board of Education and Dr. Plucker worked on new proposals to be presented to voters. Plans were projected for at least two high schools, two junior highs and several elementary schools. Also plans for pre-school and Head Start programs were organized.

Management of the 114 regular faculty members, substitutes and student teachers was one of the many duties of Mr. G. W. Corporon, principal. Mr. Corporon was also in charge of finance and curriculum.

Mr. R. W. Mailes, new vice-principal, was previously a counselor at Northwest. This year he shared the position of vice-principal with Mr. Thomas Rhone. Together they supervised all school events, organized the calendar and checked enrollment.

Counselors, personnel aid students and administration

Working behind the scenes to help students and keep business in order were the counselors, the office staff, the nurse, the attendance officer and the treasurer. The guidance office was rearranged and new name plates were added to office doors. Preparing students for college and future vocations, the guidance staff aided them in solving academic problems.

The typing of the bulletin and secretarial work for the administration were done by the office staff. The staff also kept records on each of the 2400 students.

Administering aid to students with physical problems was the new nurse, Miss Helen Bert, who was formerly a nurse in local hospitals. Mr. Lyle Stitt, attendance officer, supervised security for school games and events. He also worked with attendance and discipline problems. The treasurer, Mrs. Alice E. Irwin kept a complete and accurate record of all school finances.

Discussing computer programming, senior Dave Asher and Mr. Henson study future vocational choices.

As part of her many duties, Joyce Acton pauses from answering questions at the counter and sorting mail to give information to a parent.

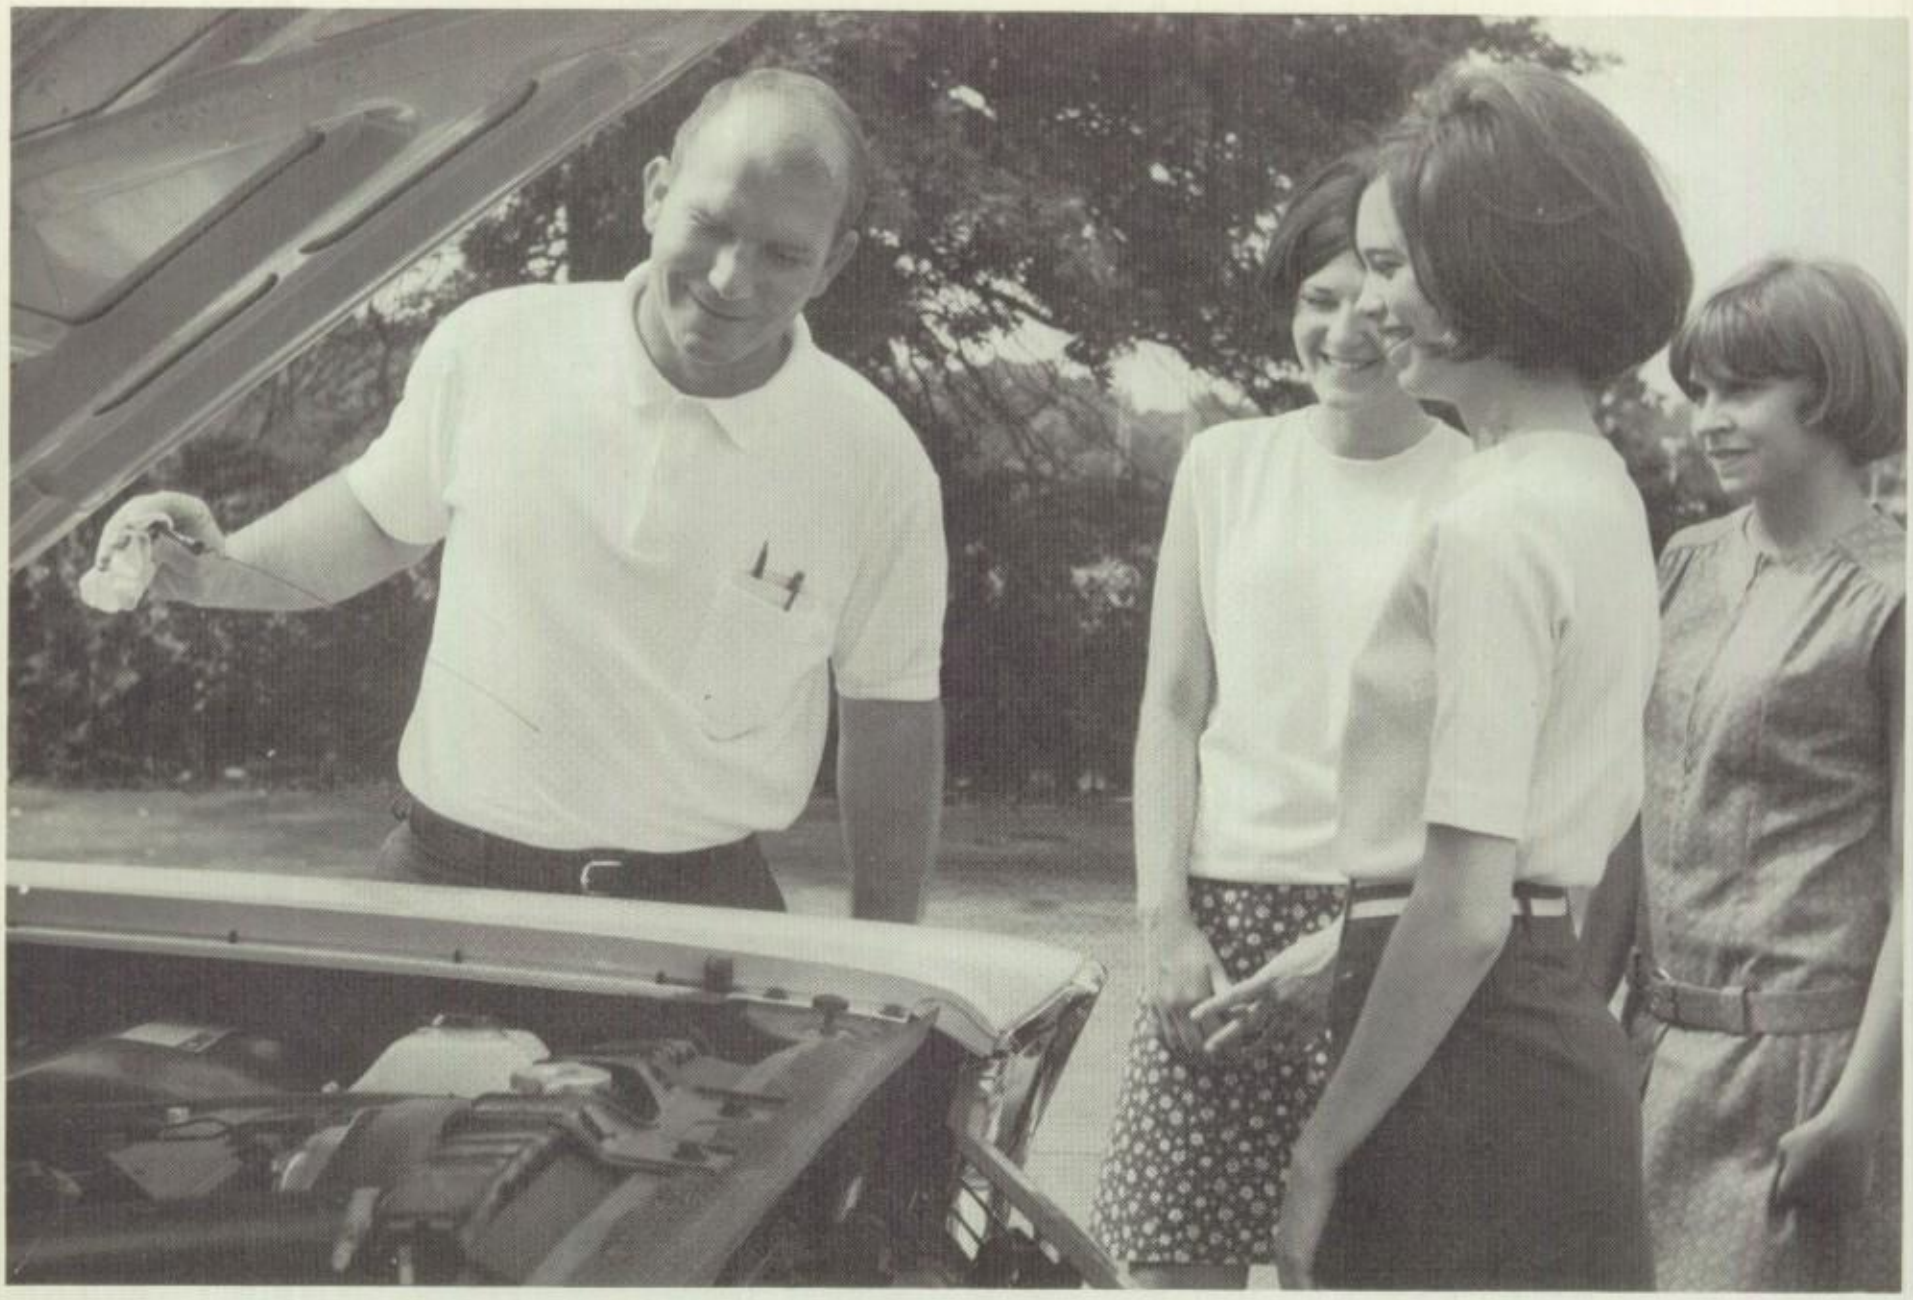
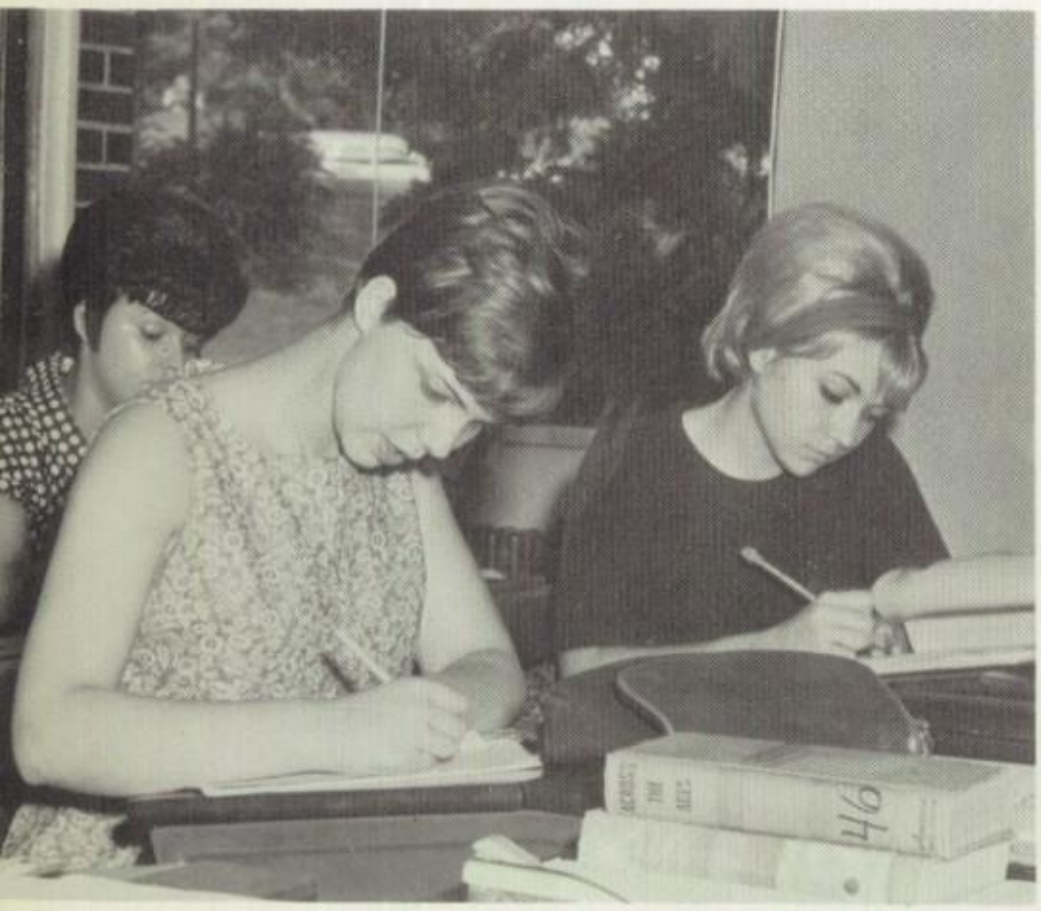
PTA promotes bond issue; offers service to Big Red

Promoting the 17-million dollar bond election for new schools and improvements headed this year's agenda of the Parent-Teacher Association. Members also offered their help by serving refreshments at Open House and at the annual Christmas Vespers. Relationships with children and less stress on grades were two of the topics discussed at the six Parent Education meetings.

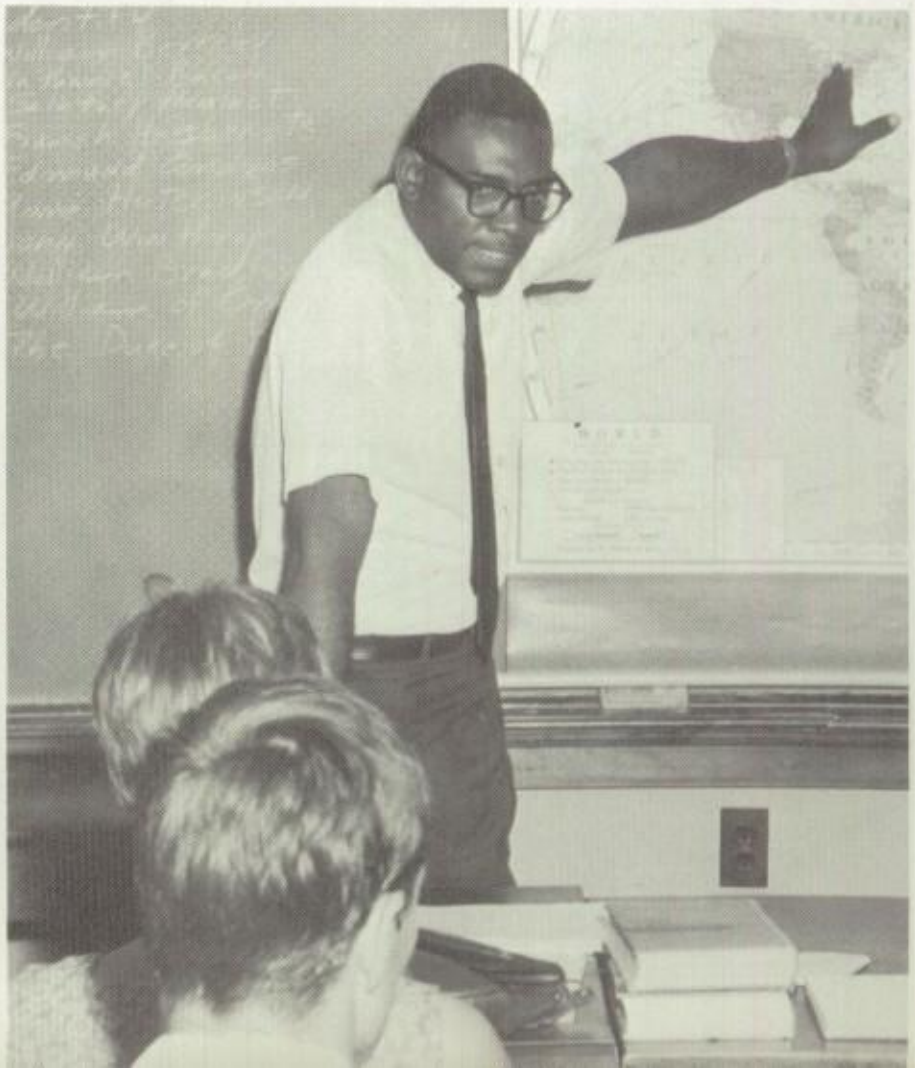


As his drivers' education students observe, Mr. Heusted demonstrates the proper method for checking oil. New drivers are taught the correct care of a car as well as traffic rules and driving skills.

History students find that summer school requires good note-taking and concentration.



Using the aid of a map, Mr. Beasley relates to his history class the story of America's past.



Academic efforts extended into first summer session

In the first summer session offered at Big Red, 550 students chose to channel a portion of their summer thoughts academically. Classes were offered in history, government, science, math, English, reading and typing. Mr. Rhone acted as principal.

Other summer instruction included drivers' education which produced over 700 new drivers. Students used cars that had been donated by the automobile dealers of Kansas City, Kansas. Mr. Robert Tompkins and Mr. James Jackson supervised the course.

Open for the first time during the summer, the library offered a quiet place for study. A new microfilm reader with films of past issues of 11 different magazines was available to students.

Checking out books are librarians, Miss Bettye Hawkins, Mr. Charles H. Boyd and Miss Mildred Norman.

Doing research for a report, Debbie Bass uses the card catalogue, checks out a book and begins work.

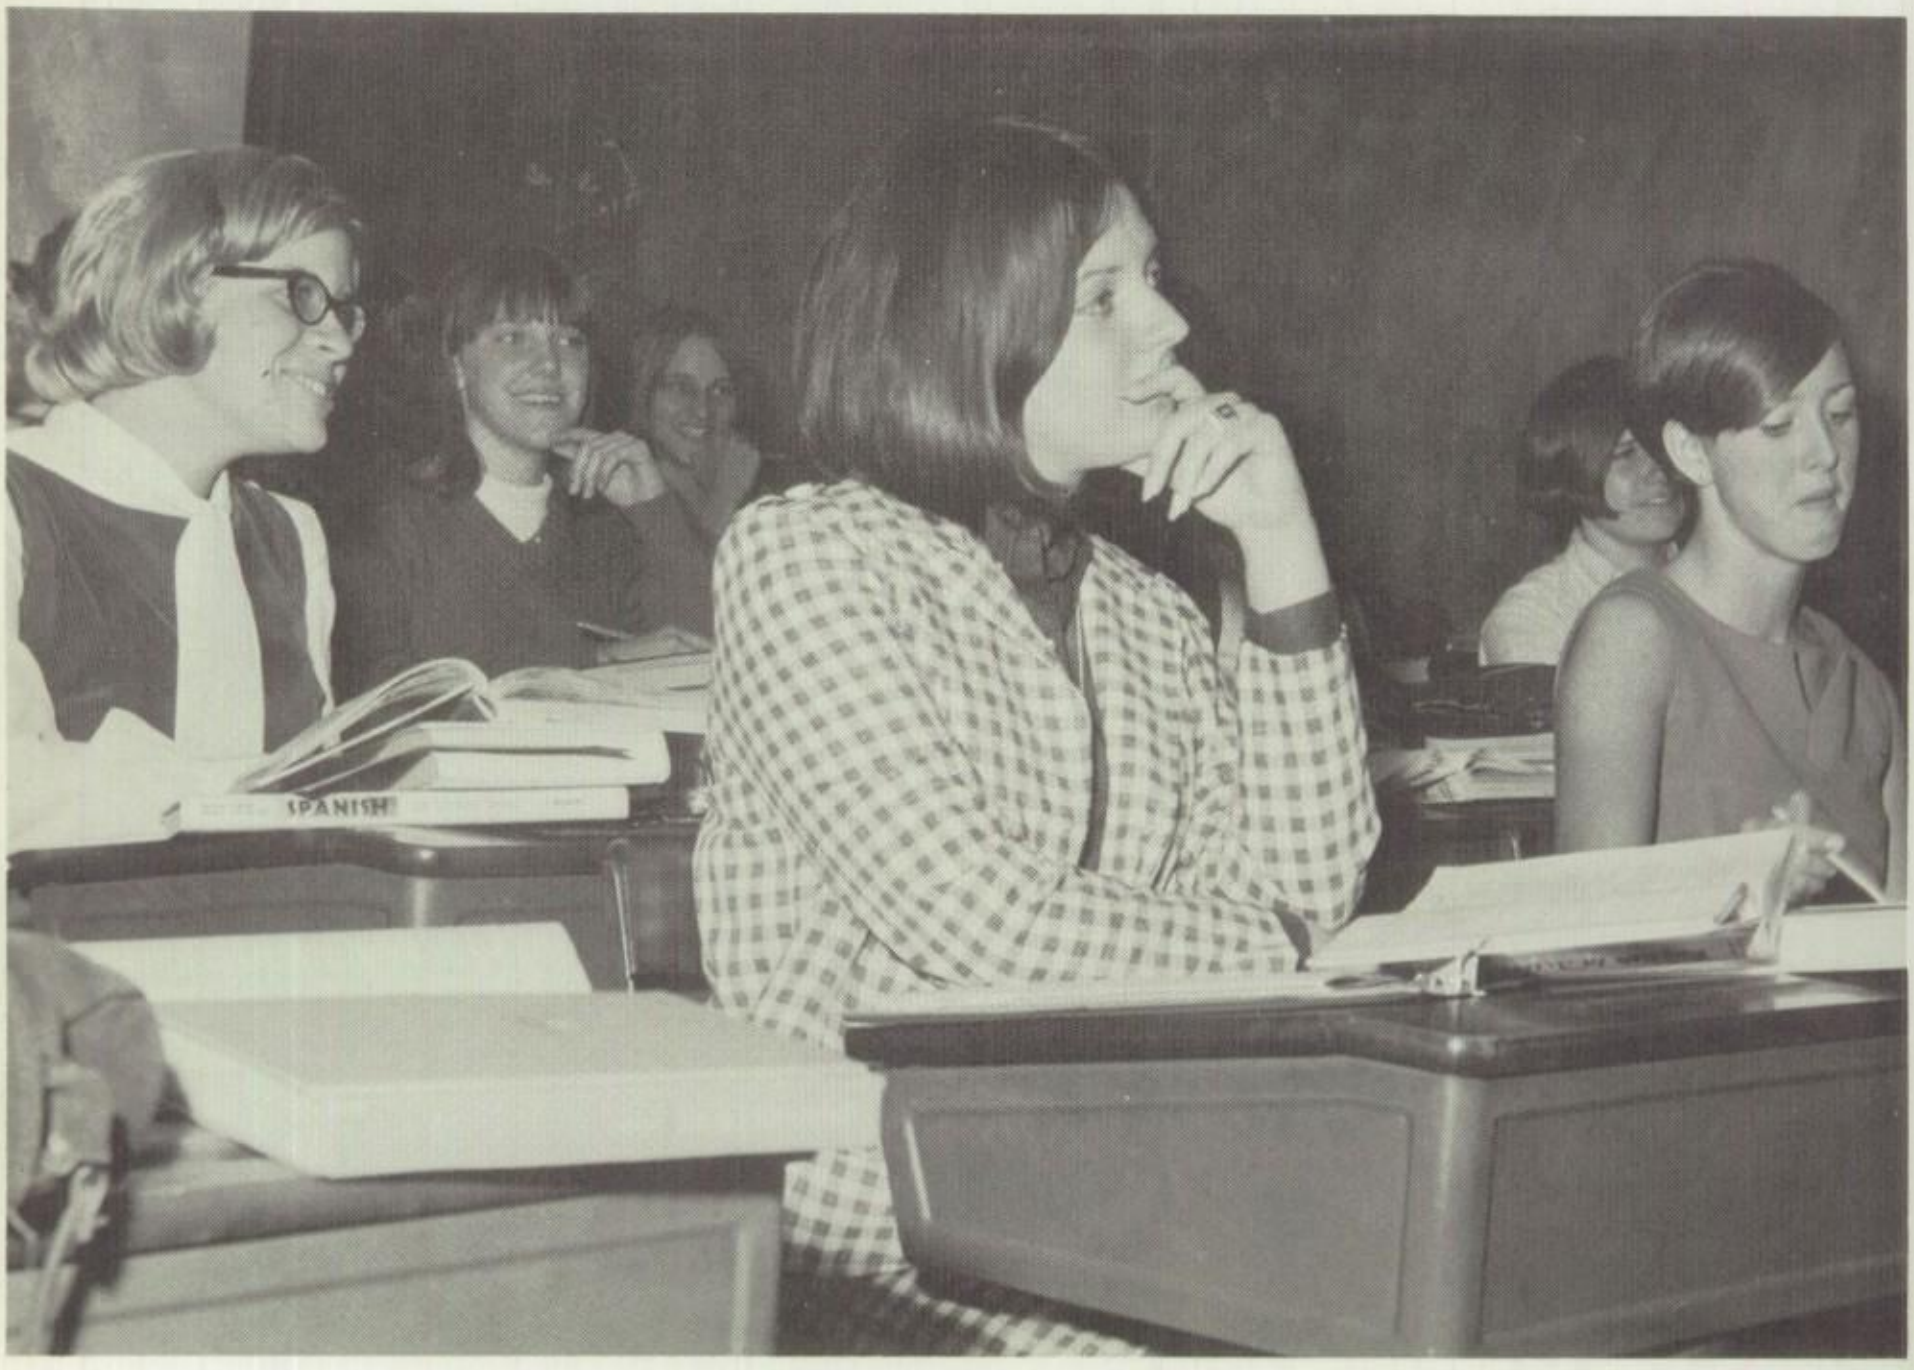
Preparing for a typical day of theme-checking are readers, Mrs. Almeda Sample and Mrs. Leona Day.

Exploration into literature stimulates creative writing

New literary horizons were explored as English classes gained a wealth of new resource material. Numerous sets of novels, such as To Kill A Mockingbird, The Pearl and The Crucible introduced students to the style of contemporary writers. Seniors found the color film of Macbeth helpful in translating the Elizabethan English.

Sounds of Whitman's "Leaves of Grass," Miller's "Death of a Salesman" and Milton's "Paradise Lost" echoed in numerous classes. These were only a few of the 100 new records available to add interest to the study of certain works.

Discussion on To Kill A Mocking Bird, recently read by Miss Sheley's fifth hour sophomores, brings varied reactions. A supply of sets of novels allows classes to read and analyze literature.



Comparison of class themes gives Danny Blair and Henry Czugala the opportunity to evaluate each other's writing on the same topic.

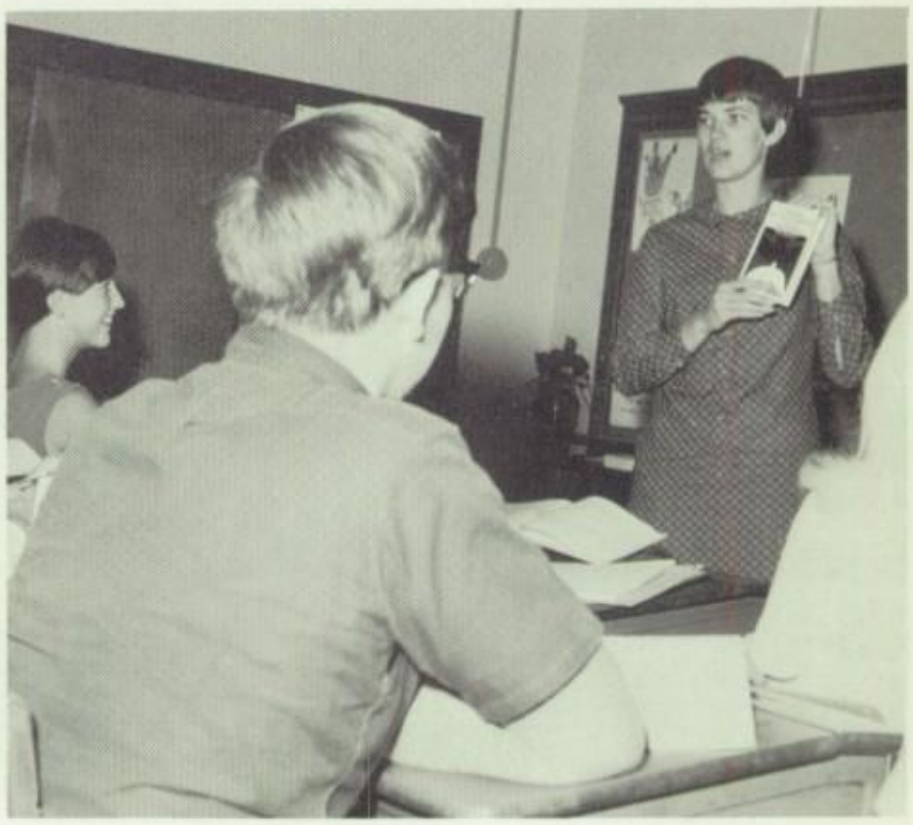
Grammar study influences individual styles of writing

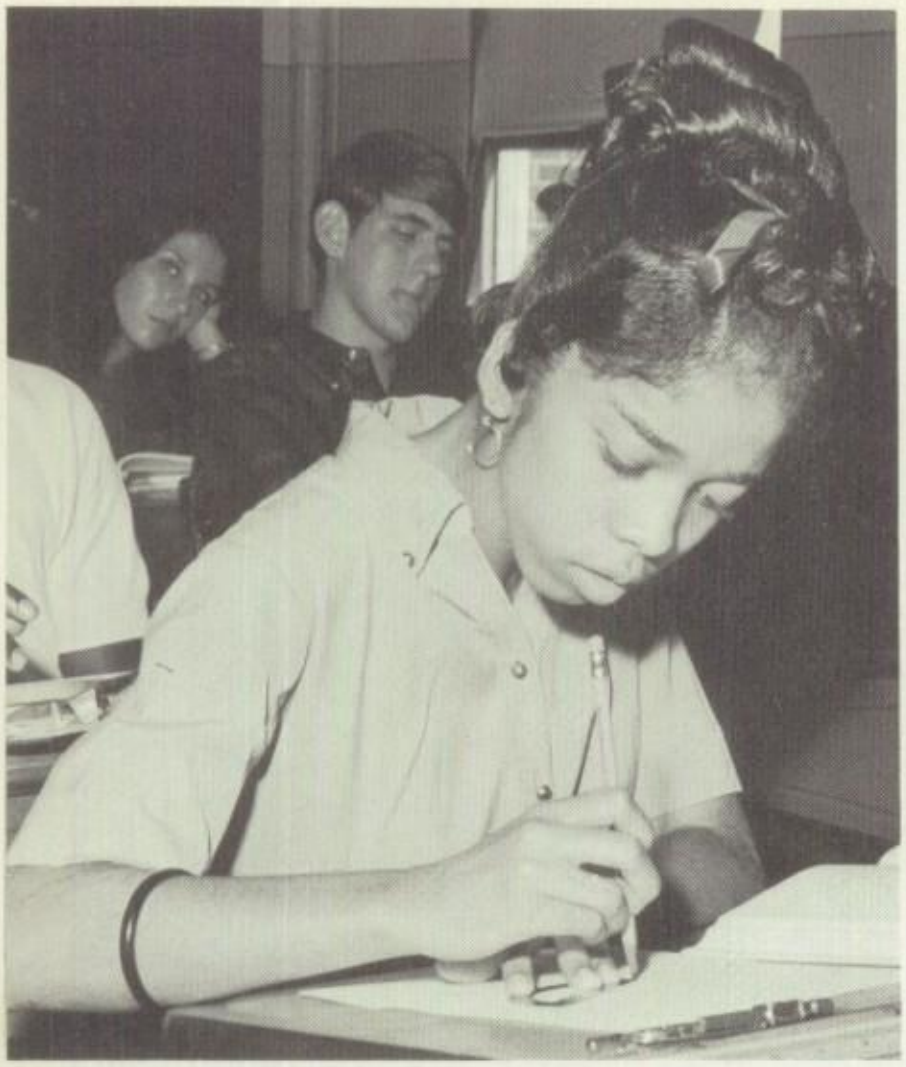
Progressing from the works of Mark Twain to Chaucer, students studied various phases of American and English literature. Along with a study of famous works, they tried their own hands at creativity through various writing assignments.

Busy minds tried desperately to sort out the whirl of gerunds, predicate nouns and other grammatical terms. Learning sentence structure and correct use of words also contributed toward writing techniques.

Journalistic interests were channeled through the selection of members to the Pantograph and Quiverian staffs.

Suggested reading or Death Be Not Proud is formally introduced by Miss Sheley to her sophomores.





Completing her geometry, Orvella Clay draws a diagram to illustrate how her answers were obtained.

Logical thinking is learned by mathematical reasoning

An understanding of technical terms is vitally needed in an expanding world. Therefore, basic ideas and theorems were learned in math classes to help students think logically and gain this understanding.

New overhead projectors and screens helped give a clearer picture of mathematical problems. These were employed for the first time to supplement the standard equipment previously used by the department.

Intense study of properties, logarithms, angles, probability and other areas represented the many fields of mathematics. Students also faced the task of learning practical application of this knowledge.

Climaxing the year, selected algebra students participated in the National Mathematics Contest to compare themselves with others in the nation.

Science studies revised to accommodate student increase

Changes in curriculum and courses caused a complete revision of this year's Science Department. General subjects replaced specialized courses in botany and physiology to allow room for over 900 sophomores to take required biology.

Two different levels of biology classes made use of the six fully equipped labs. General information and a study of scientific theories were gained by Biology I students. Due to the change in curriculum and an increase in students, Biology II, a two-hour course, doubled in size.

Classes in chemistry and physics were also available for those interested in expanding other scientific areas.

Setting up a serial dilution, Sarah Harding, Carol Durham and Steve Ulmer gather data for their lab reports. The relationship of food concentration to Co2 production by yeast is observed in detail.

Close examination is made of physical, political globes

In keeping with modern trends, new courses were introduced in the Social Studies Department. One such course was Problems of American Democracy which was offered to selected seniors interested in current problems. Each week a topic was set up and research was done. Then a discussion of the problem was led by one of the students.

Also, an intense study of the globe was made in a new geography course which stressed both physical and cultural aspects. In addition, sophomores as well as seniors had the opportunity to enroll in sociology courses this year for the first time.

Pointing out features of colonial dress, Miss Curl explains the style to her American History class.

New films, maps, texts aid current events studies

Occasionally breaking away from textbooks, American Government and American History students used supplementary magazines and newspapers. Discussion topics ranged from "hippies" to higher taxes.

A new series of films, revised texts and new maps made lessons more interesting. Films shown to American History classes covered events from the Revolutionary War to Viet Nam.

New humanities films gave world history students insight into the golden age of Athens, the spirit of Rome, ethics of Aristotle and the age of Sophocles.

Language of foreign lands is mastered through study

Attending a French play, selling Latin slaves, reading Spanish magazines and drawing German maps were all integral parts of this year's Foreign Language Department.

A study of French operas and plans for a fictitious trip to Paris kept French students busy. In addition some students corresponded with pen pals. Meanwhile, Latin classes got a better understanding of culture through their study of Rome.

For the first time Spanish pupils were able to check out records for use at home. Drills with records, charts and two textbooks promoted more fluency in the language.

On the other hand, German students were introduced to a study of geography while drawing maps of Germany. The German III class was the largest ever held at Wyandotte.

Utilizing the Spanish language, Carmen Garcia and Greg Griswold rehearse a typical conversation.

With a model, Harlan Locke explains to the Latin II class the structure of a typical Latin house.

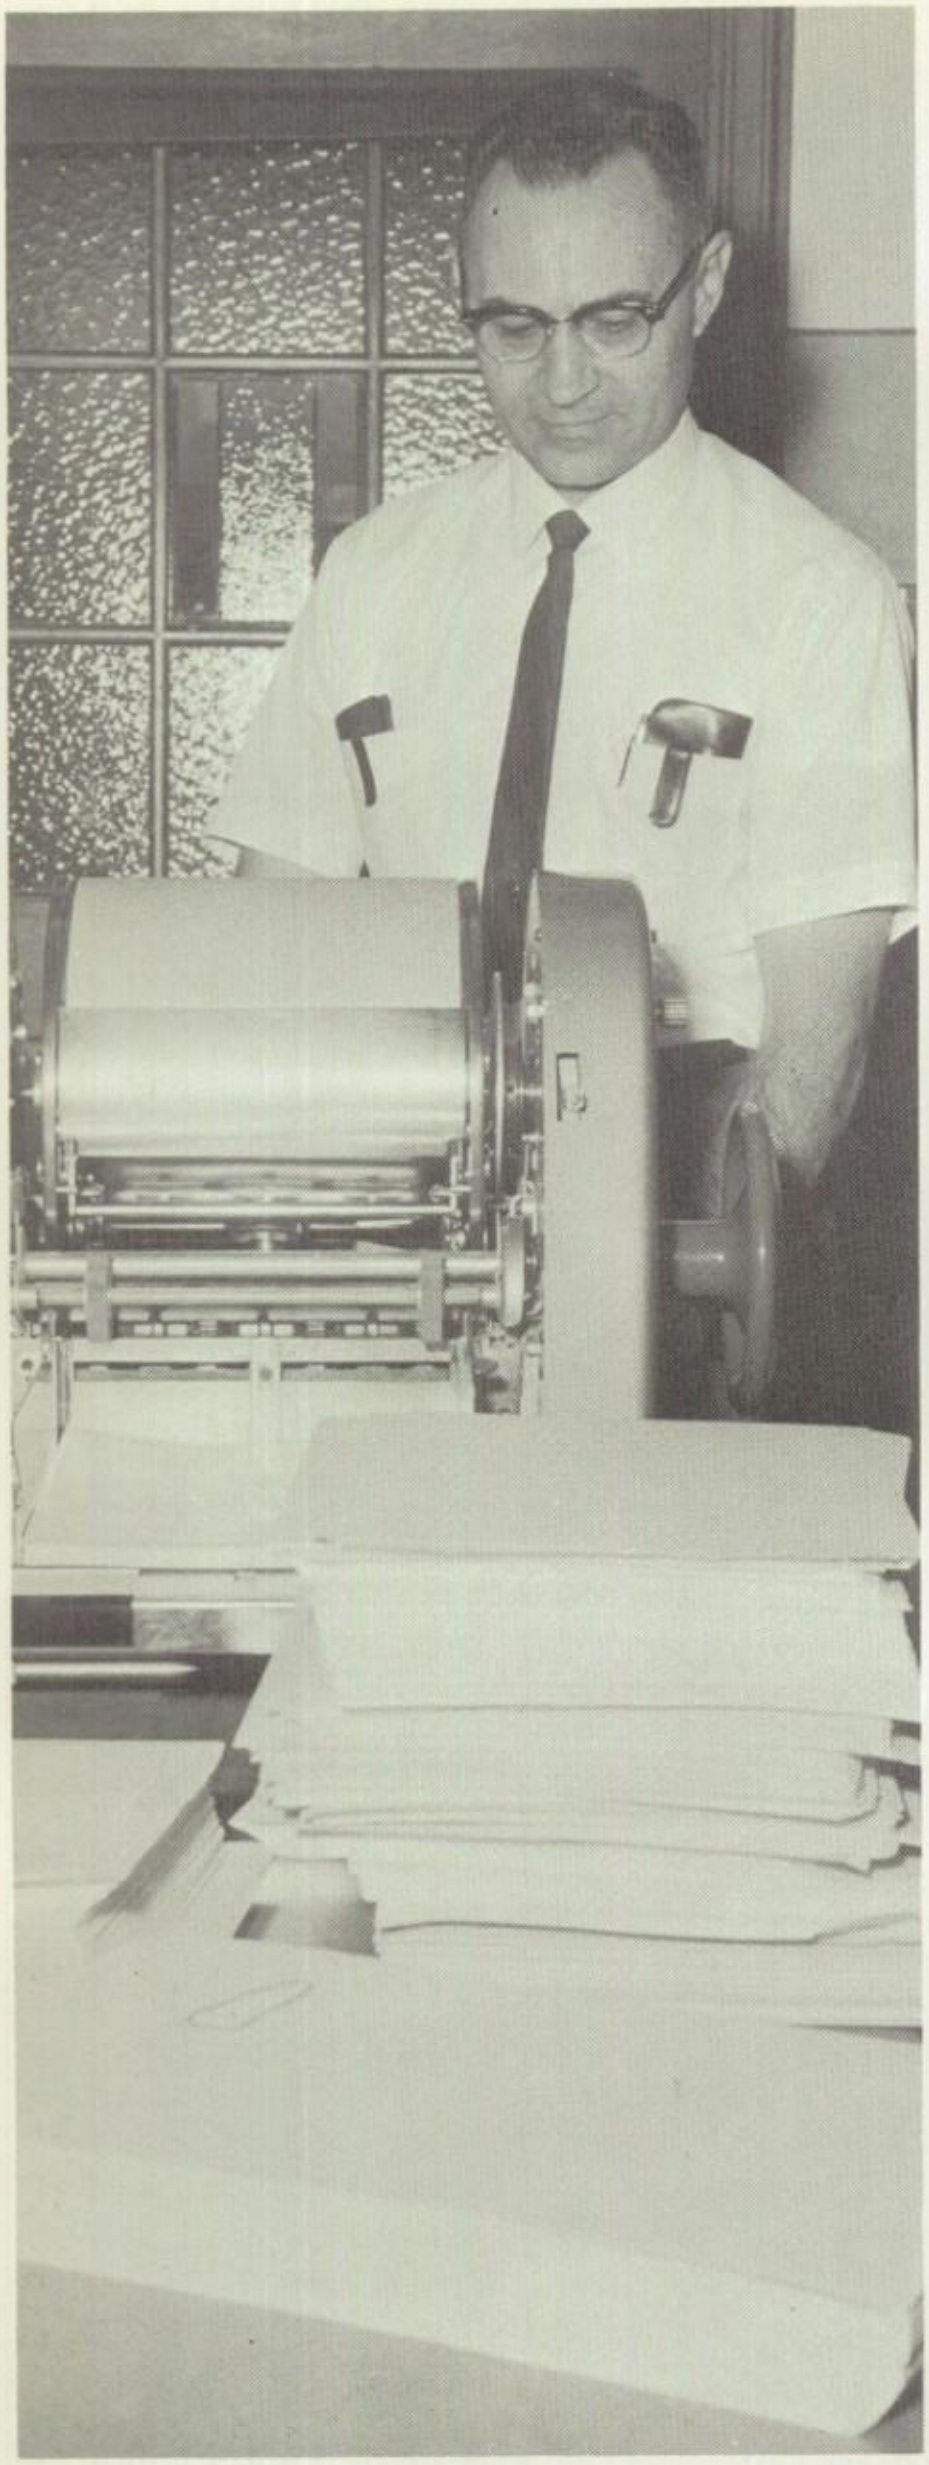
Clerical, secretarial areas profit from new equipment

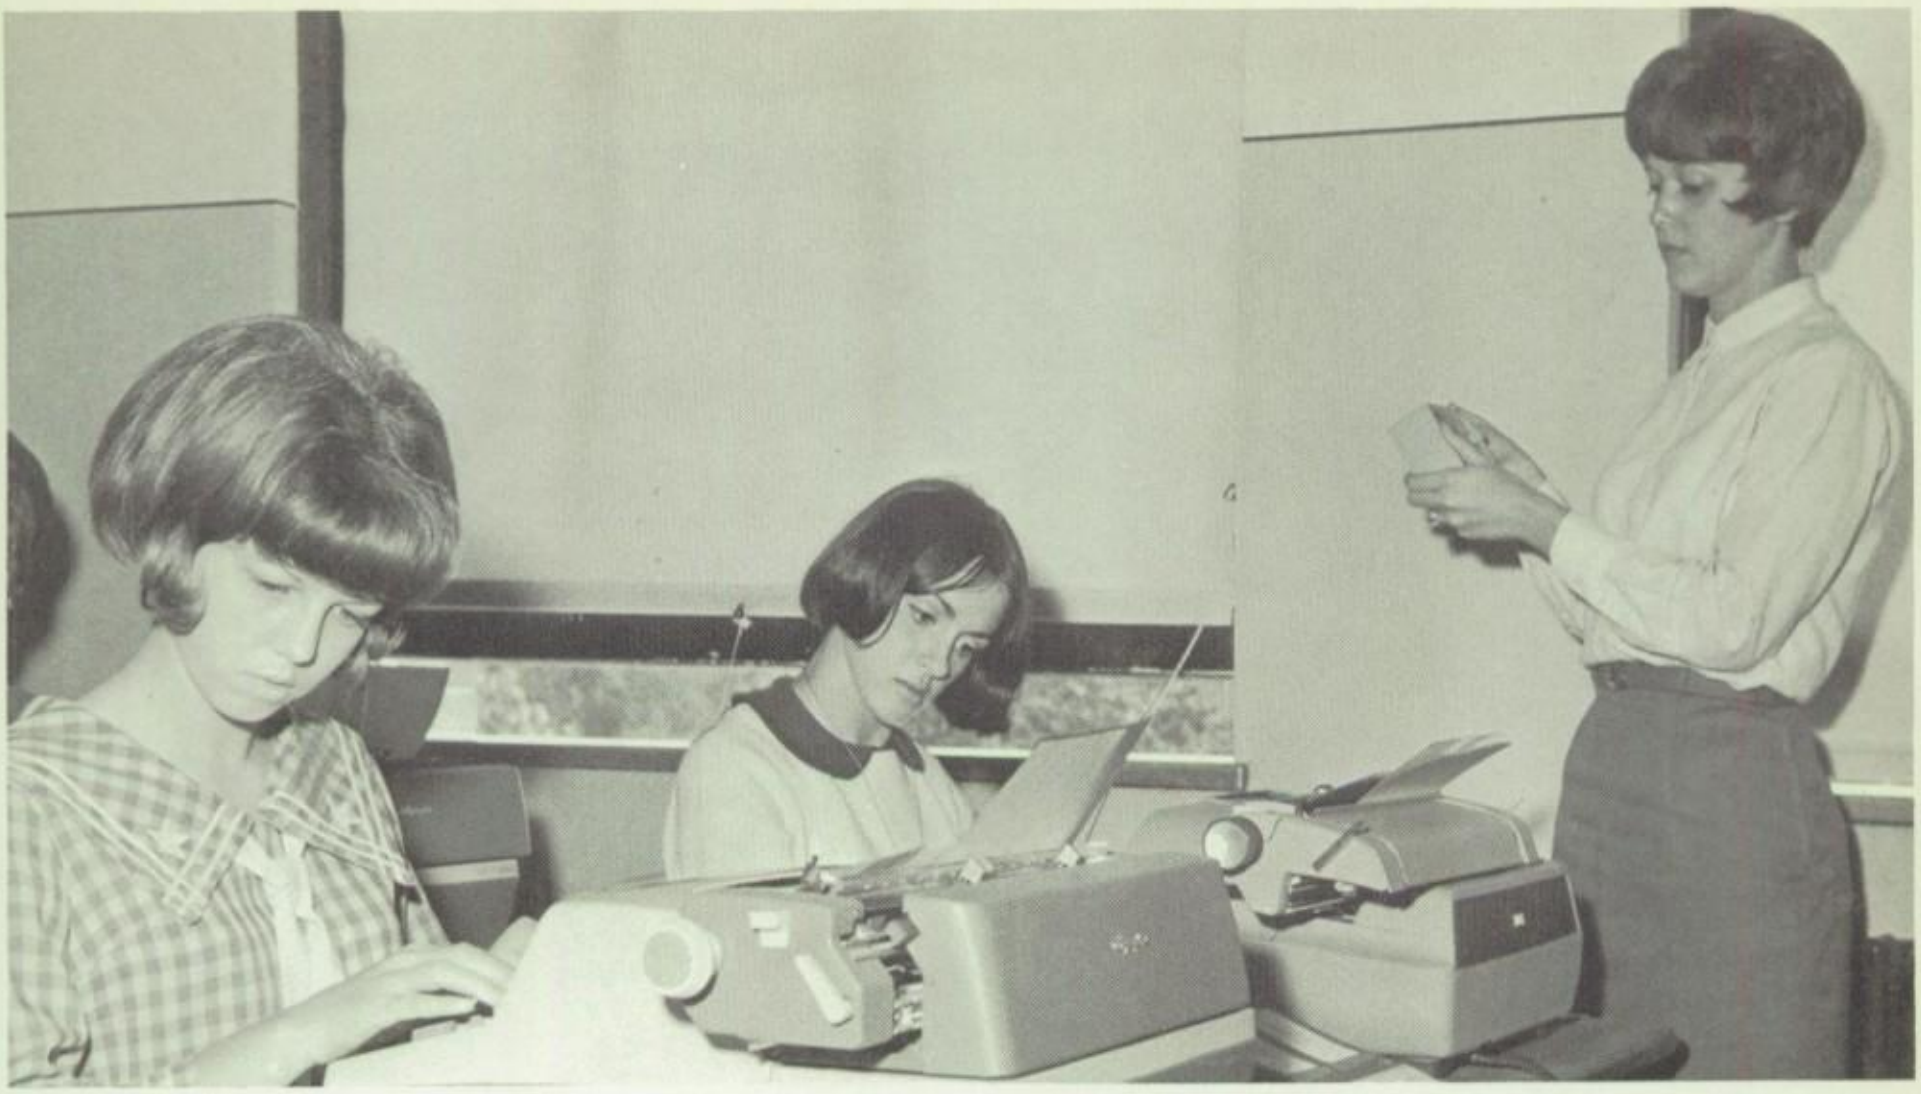
With the addition of new equipment, students were able to gain a broader knowledge of business skills. Up-to-date adding, calculating and dictating machines were used by students enrolled in clerical and secretarial training. Also, new desks, chairs and storage cabinets were available for use in accounting classes.

Courses from personal typing and shorthand to business law and economics were offered. Helping the office with its overload of work, making copies of materials for faculty use and printing programs were projects of the dupliçating classes.



About a ton of paper per year is used in the mimeograph machine by Mr. Ramsey's duplicating classes.

Printing programs for the football banquet, Leslea Milam learns to operate the new offset machine.



Speed and accuracy become primary goals of Typing II students as they strive for perfection in their work. Trying for 60 words a minute, the class takes a timed writing given by Mrs. Vaughn.

With the use of a chart, Mr. Starbuck is able to show correct hand position to his Typing I class.

Physical education classes present new opportunities

Two new physical education courses provided students with a wider variety of learning. Sophomore boys were offered a new health course, while girls in advanced swimming learned survival swimming.

Working with a new "exer-genie," boys developed strength in arm and back muscles. Warm-up exercises preceded regular class work which included a variety of sports ranging from football to golf.

In girls' gym, major emphasis was placed on recreational sports. Archery, modern dancing, fencing and tennis were a few of the areas touched upon in gym classes.

Sophomores listen attentively as senior leader, Greg Carpenter, explains an intricate football play. In a discussion of basic rules, boys learn the correct method of executing a lateral pass.

Extra music groups formed; study made of new art

The strains of a musical composition, the stroke of a paintbrush, the scene from a play and the well-chosen words of a speech were all part of a study in Fine Arts.

"Op" and "pop" art posters were designed, and psychedelic decorations were made by art students. Learning to use words effectively, drama, speech and debate students worked toward perfection of expression.

Two bands and two orchestras were required to accommodate interested students, while student representation on major decisions was voiced through orchestra and band councils for the first time. The King and I was one of the major performances of the Music Department.

Domestic, industrial skills acquired from class study

From the intricacies of a car engine to a mass of electrical wires, boys in industrial arts learned helpful skills. New equipment included signal tracers, crucibles, two presses and a lathe. From materials donated by the Board of Education, the vocational electricity classes built new shelves, power supplies and generators.

The smell of freshly baked cookies and the whir of sewing machines drifted into the halls during home economics classes. Foods students found the new refrigerator-freezer convenient as they prepared regular meals and holiday treats.

Worthy academic abilities recognized through honors

Several areas of academic ability were acknowledged this year. Through participation in the Science Institute at Park College, four Wyandotte students attended lectures and lab sessions. Also, four seniors attended the Saturday Seminar lecture series and discussion groups for academically talented students at the University of Missouri at Kansas City.

In the annual Optimist Club Contest, several seniors were recognized for writing talents as well as leadership qualities. As a Kansas winner, Lartrell Ball was chosen to attend the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, while Theodore Curry was honored as a finalist in the Outstanding Negro Scholarship Program. Winners in this program received $1,000 to $6,000 scholarships.

Capable students included in inter-scholastic activities

Throughout the year, numerous students were involved in various inter-scholastic activities. In June, seven boys and one girl from Big Red took part in Boys' and Girls' State by organizing model Kansas governments at the University of Kansas. During September, students representing athletics, cheerleading, debate, journalism, pep club and student government met at Lawrence High School with other high school students. The program included a dinner and a discussion of their respective schools.

Representatives presented Bulgaria's views at the model Security Council in December. During one of the sessions, Steve Weaver presided over the discussion.

In addition to three National Merit semi-finalists, there were four other commended students—Maury Breidenthal, Steve Weaver, Pat Sorrels and Bruce Timmons. Also, three boys were chosen as candidates to the U.S. Air Force Academy and West Point.

Big Red hosts AFS students from Finland and Paraguay

For the first time, Wyandotte was honored with two AFS students instead of one. This was made possible through AFS family support and the successful Bells for Peace sales last year. The two students were Olli Maenpaa from Salo, Finland, and Maria (Mavi) Pinanez from Asuncion, Paraguay.

Mavi and Olli found their lives in America active with school and AFS events. They were both part of the Problems of American Democracy class, and they both joined IRC. At Christmas, they had ethnic displays at the Ward Parkway Shopping Center.

Mavi became the seventh member of the Charles B. Martin family and was asked to be an honorary member of Honor Pep. She was also active in Spanish Club.

Olli lived with the Ronald B. Richards and Verlin L. Grantham families during his stay. Along with AFS responsibilities, he participated in German Club, Creative Writing Club and Design for Living.

Upon his return, Steve Curtis is met in Social Hall by the Pep Band and a large crowd. After the reading of a proclamation by Steve Weaver, Mavi Pinanez presented Steve with an African drum.

Students represent WHS in England and South Africa

Two students from Big Red were sent to foreign countries this year through the Americans Abroad program. One of the students, Rick Golub, spent the summer in Oundale, England. Highlights of his travels included the sights of London and a performance of The Taming of the Shrew by the Royal Shakespeare Company at Stratford on Avon. His last two weeks were spent in travel throughout the English countryside. He found that fashions which are often considered "mod" in America are standard wear for the "teenage set" in England.

The other student, Steve Curtis, spent his year in the Republic of South Africa. During most of the year, he attended Grey College, a boys' school of about 1200 students. His AFS family lived in Bloemfontein, the provincial city of the Orange Free State. Steve also spent a month in northern Natal and a month in the Cape Mountains in an "outward bound" school. He found that although South African teens dated less, they attended more parties.

Council alters dress code; marks lines in parking lot

In an attempt to improve the school, the Student Council initiated several new projects. First, the Dress Code was updated to include allowances for modern dress.

In addition, a press box was built onto the west side of the football stadium. The building of the press box has been a promotional project of the Council for the past two years in cooperation with the Board of Education.

Finally, parking lines were marked in the school lot for ease in parking. Students were also assigned parking spaces.

Other services included the hosting of parents around the school at Open House and the collection of the annual Thanksgiving offering for orphaned children.

Susan Anderson and Jan Taylor model the unacceptable and acceptable styles stated in the Dress Code.

Royal treatment for boys completes turn-about year

This year, the Girls League offered its members two opportunities to ask boys to dances—the annual Christmas Formal and the Leap Year Dance.

Plans for the Leap Year Dance were made soon after the Christmas Formal. This year the boys were given the royal treatment instead of the girls. The court consisted of the king, two princes and their honor guard, who reigned over the festivities of the entire evening. The crowning of the king put the finishing touch on a year made to honor the boys.

Assuming the sponsorship of the Girls League this year was Miss Pat Kentner. She replaced Miss Helen Barnett, former sponsor, who retired last year.

Orchestra gives concerts at various school functions

As a newly-organized group this year, the Orchestra Council enabled members to have an active voice in the management of the Orchestra. Two representatives each from the sophomore, junior and senior classes were elected to the Council.

Under the direction of Mr. Don Lowe, the Orchestra performed at the Christmas Assembly, at the Winter Concert, at school plays and at Baccalaureate. Another concert appearance for the Orchestra was with the new Symphonic Band in the spring.

Representing Wyandotte at the Spring Music Festival were the Orchestra and several of its members who participated in ensembles. Also, at the State Music Festival, selected members competed for ratings.

Symphonic Band featured in new February Concert

To offer more variety in playing style, the Band established a new Symphonic Band in addition to the traditional Marching Band. The new Symphonic Band, composed of first-hour Band members, was presented in a February program of concert band music. They also played in the Spring Concert.

Throughout a rainy football season, half-time ceremonies featured peformances by the Marching Band, composed of first and sixth hours. They played in the American Royal parade and for Band Day at KU.

Helping Mr. Don Lowe with decisions affecting the Band was the Band Council, a new group this year. Members met and discussed policies concerning participation in the school's programs.

New changes in appearance were noted in the Wyandotte High School Marching Band as a boy was named Head Drum Major for the first time. In addition, two Head Drum Majorettes were selected instead of the traditional one. The other change concerned the dress of the Banner Girls. Their new uniforms spelled WYANDOTTE from the front and BULLDOGS from the back. Marching in the American Royal Parade gave them an opportunity to display the uniforms.

Another branch of the Band was the Pep Band, under the student direction of Bruce Kernes. This group provided music for all home basketball games and pep assemblies. It also played for all home swim meets.

Children assist A Capella with musical, King and I

Highlighting the many performances given by the A Capella Choir was the presentation of the musical, The King and I. Main characters were portrayed by choir members, while the Boys and the Girls Glee Clubs composed the subjects in the King's court. Acting as the King's children were students from Mark Twain Grade School.

In addition to the musical, the A Capella sang Christmas carols and religious songs at the Christmas Assembly. Since there was no Christmas play, the music department presented the entire program.

Other performances given by the A Capella were for church services and the annual spring music festival.

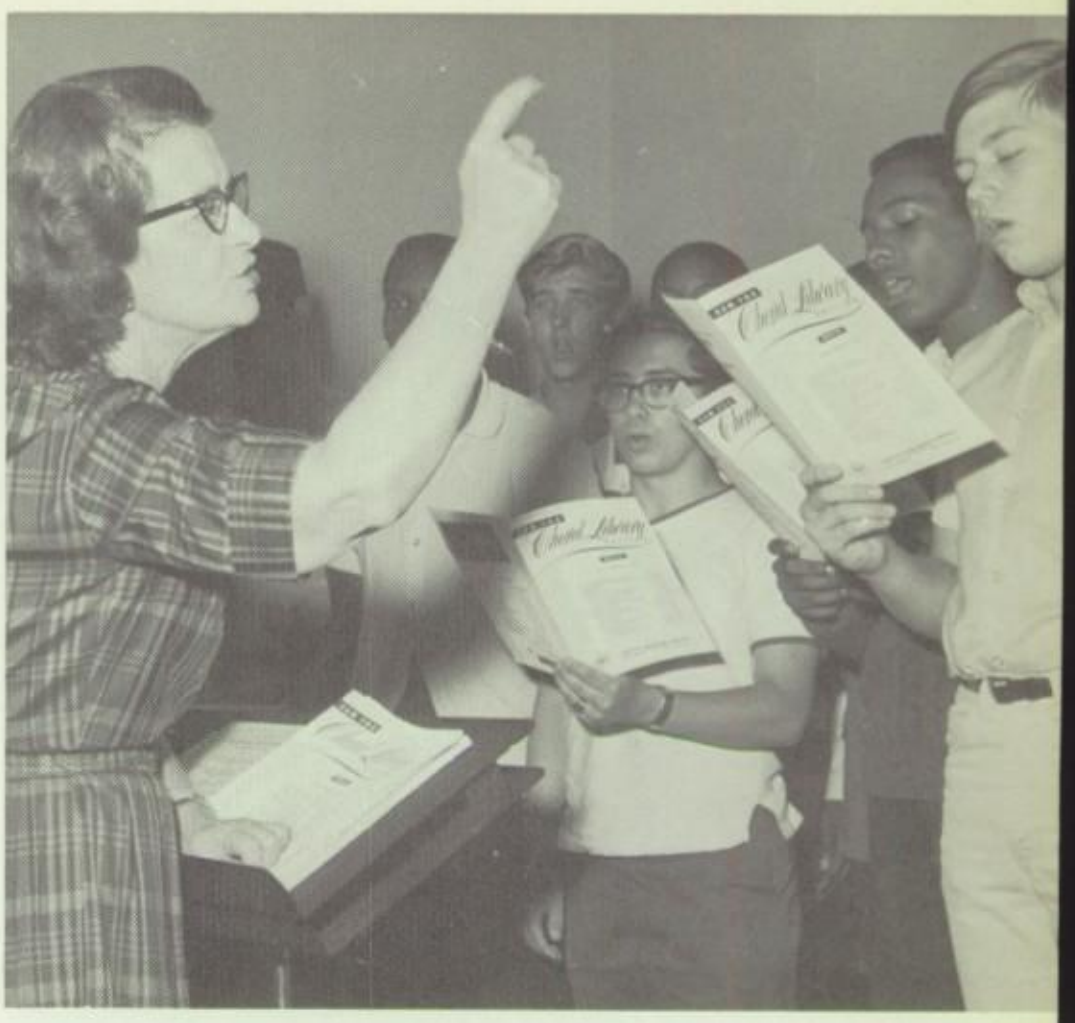
Reports on music history span from past to present

History and background of music filled many class hours for the Boys and the Girls Glee Clubs. Current magazine articles were used by students in oral reports as supplementary sources for information about the period being studied. During the course of the year, these time spans covered Renaissance, Baroque, Classical, Romantic and Contemporary music.

In addition to learning historical background, the Glee Clubs were taught correct posture and proper enunciation. Daily exercises also helped to improve voices.

Besides singing in the Christmas Assembly and the spring musical, The King and I, the vocal groups performed for local clubs and churches. These programs gave them opportunities for public appearances.



While Miss Theis directs "Getting to Know You," the boys practice to perfect rhythm and intonation.

Pantograph helps Council in revision of Dress Code

Helping the Student Council promote the revision of the Dress Code was the Pantograph, the official school newspaper. In several of its issues, editorials and cartoons provided information on why the Dress Code needed to be revised and improved.

In addition to helping the Student Council, the Pantograph, under the sponsorship of Mr. Frank Naylor, developed its editorial policy which strove to update the Dress Code and promote boys' school spirit. Also, ads totaling over 2800 inches provided the paper with adequate finances.

Honors won by the 1966-67 Pantograph included first-place ratings with the CSPA, NSPA and the International Quill and Scroll critical services. Individual journalists were honored by initiation into Quill and Scroll at the end of the school year.

Initiation recognizes staffs; cubs serve apprenticeship

By helping with student publications, the Pantograph and Quiverian cubs prepared for next year's staffs. Pantograph cubs were enrolled in a full-hour class where they learned journalistic techniques such as financing and proofreading. They also gained experience from selling ads, writing copy and covering news beats.

The Quiverian cubs helped with summer projects and worked after school to help the staff with clerical work. In March, a three-week course concerning layout, style and copywriting acquainted the cubs with various yearbook procedures.

Recognition to senior and cub staff members of both publications was given through Quill and Scroll, honorary journalistic society. Selection was based on grades and on sponsors' recommendations.

Yearbook makes changes; projects cover extra cost

Striving to break from tradition, the 1968 Quiverian Staff, under the guidance of Miss Niki Economy, promoted a totally modern look for the annual. Cover, layout and picture content projected the theme, "It's What's Happening." Because of the additional cost involved in production, summer projects provided the extra money. These included several car washes, a bake sale, a candy sale and a mixer.

Other innovations were also introduced. For the first time, juniors were pictured individually and color packets were sold to them. Another new aspect involved the sale of personalized yearbooks.

The staff's efforts were made in an attempt to satisfy the student body and to uphold ratings won by last year's Quiverian. The 1967 yearbook was awarded an All-American by NSPA and an A+ by the NSYA.

Yearbook work varies from conferences to learning photographic fundamentals to meeting deadlines.

Spanish and French clubs learn more about cultures

Singing Christmas carols in front of the library on the Monday before Christmas was only one of many activities sponsored by the Spanish Club. Other activities included a Christmas program where a piñata was broken and a banquet at a Mexican restaurant. A visit to the Spanish part of the Nelson Art Gallery broadened the members' knowledge of Spanish culture.

"Marche aux Puces," or outdoor market, was a WHS first which was sponsored by the French Club. This project provided members with another view of French culture.

From Wyandotte, three advanced French students, Lartrell Ball, Vicki Dunn and Jane Peters, attended the meetings of The Jeune Alliance of Kansas City, Missouri. During these meetings, members were restricted to speaking French only.

Anxious for the candy inside, "Los Conquistadores" wait for the Christmas piñata to break.

German, Latin raise funds; Chess Club perfects skills

An increase in money-making efforts enabled the German Club to participate in more activities. One project was a car wash held late in the year, which gave members an opportunity to hold a hayride. Other activities were two picnics, one held in the fall and another in the spring.

To enable two representatives to attend the National Junior Classical League Convention at Michigan University, Latin members also sponsored money-making projects. $350 was raised through a candy sale.

Reorganizing in December, the Chess Club held meetings and chess tournaments. These tournaments were held in competition with other area schools. The club was organized by students who were interested in improving their chess skill and strategy.

New AFS Club is started; swim show honors Disney

In its first year, the American Field Service Club worked toward its main project. This was to welcome Wyandotte's two AFS students, Mavi Pinanez and Olli Maenpaa, and to get acquainted with them.

Attending a Model U.N. at Park College in Parkville, Missouri, was the International Relations Club. Participants discussed current national and foreign problems.

In contrast to IRC, the Homemakers of Tomorrow dealt with problems a girl might encounter in marriage or in a career. Several homemaking demonstrations were given.

For the annual swim show this year, the Sharks and the Minnows of the Splash Club performed in typical Walt Disney style. In honor of this great man, Splash Club's theme was "A Tribute to Disney."

Big Red Talkdogs capture first in District competition

After capturing first place in district competition for the first time since 1962, WHS Talkdogs traveled to the regionals at Washington High School. Other open meets brought three third-place trophies. Mr. Leonard Jensen coached the teams debating the national topic concerning "uniform regulations to control criminal investigation procedures."

First place came in the Rosedale novice match. Two second-place novice trophies were taken at Shawnee Heights and at Washington High Schools.

Winning debates received from five to nine points. With the accumulation of 25 points came membership into National Forensic, honorary speaking organization.

Reading stirs imaginations; dramatists aim for awards

Reading absorbed the thoughts of two WHS clubs, Design for Living and Storytelling. The former stimulated its members through college preparatory reading such as The Prince. Guest speakers helped students gain a deeper insight into the books' meanings. In the latter, members took field trips to various city grade schools and presented favorite stories to the children.

Young dramatists found an outlet for their talent through the Drama Club. After a month of practice they presented Truman Capote's The Grass Harp. By selling tickets to this play, performing in other plays and participating in club meetings, the members were able to earn points toward National Thespian, the Honor Society of the Drama Club.

Strimple sparks successful season for Sunflower 2nd

A faked pass, an 85-yard kickoff return and a last-minute touchdown were just a taste of the many tricks the 1967-1968 Canine gridsters sprang on their unsuspecting opponents. The backing of the new head coach, Mr. Clyde Strimple, along with the team's self-determination, sent the Bulldogs well on their way.

Second only to SMN, the Bulldogs were runners-up for the Sunflower League title. In addition, many of the gridsters were on the receiving end of several awards.

Trojan's perfect record erased in Sunflower League upset

Starting the season off on the wrong foot, the Bulldogs bowed to the Ward Cyclones, 6-28. Cut down by Ward's offense and precision blocking, the Canines were unable to do more than put their two-cents' worth on the score board. A 56-yard strike, the Bulldogs' only counter, took form when Blalock connected a pass to Thomas.

A week later, the Bulldogs regained their sure-footedness when they walked off the Washington gridiron with a 12-6 victory under their helmets. During the remaining 38 seconds of the game, Thomas struck paydirt with a 36-yard pass from Blalock.

Wyandotte stole the giant-killer's role by defeating the Trojans, 28-12. Although Thomas ran a 70-yard punt return for a touchdown, Blalock broke the game open by scoring the remaining 22 points.

Maintaining their roll, Big Red slid to a soggy victory over Topeka West, 20-7. The key to Wyandotte's success was the 341 yards total gain in the air and through the slick turf. Big Red's defense was led by Wessel, Erickson, Nichols and Sykes.

Although the Bulldogs were downed by the Indians, 27-13, Wyandotte cracked North's scoring barrier twice, a feat no other team had been able to accomplish. Both Thomas and Nichols scored on short passes from Blalock, but only one PAT was good.

Repeating their performance, the Canines were dropped by the SME Lancers, 33-13. Blalock fired a quick snap to Nichols for the first TD. On the opening kickoff of the second half, Thomas waded through the Lancer line for Big Red's last TD.

Slipping past Vikings by 6, Bulldogs attain muddy victory

In their seventh meeting of the season, the Bulldogs were defeated by the Lawrence Lions, 34-0. Although the defense was tough and the offensive maneuvers were good, when combined, they could not offset the bad breaks and slip-ups that plagued Big Red throughout the muddy game.

Ending a three-game skid, the Wyandotte gridsters overtook the SMW Vikings, 13-7. The Bulldogs crossed the scoring chalk twice, using the same play both times. This attack was split between the ground and the air. Big Red began their march late in the third quarter, with Gatson and Thomas running the ball 72 yards. Thomas capped the play with a 34-yard TD pass from Blalock.

The battle was a tie, but Wyandotte won the war as the Bulldogs sewed up second place in the Sunflower League in a 7-7 deadlock with the SMS Raiders. The Bulldogs' surge began when Renko recovered an onside kick on his own 36-yard line. On the next play Thomas fired a 13-yard touchdown pass to Renko; Blalock kicked the PAT. This marked the close of the Bulldogs' season.

Juniors' undampened spirit sees them through season

Gaining the much-needed experience to become varsity players, the Reserves wound up the season with a 1-6-1 record. Although the junior gridmen had little to show score-wise, they never allowed their opponents to walk off with an easy win.

Through the season's opener to the final match, the Bullpups were plagued with upsets. The 7-0 victory over the Topeka West Trojans and the 0-0 deadlock with the SME Lancers were the Canines' only successful bouts. Coach King stated, "Their spirit was never dampened, and their will to play was never lost."

High number of casualties plagues sophomore season

Plagued by many injuries, the sophomores finished their season with no victories. Among those injured were John Swinney, who suffered from a fractured collar bone that kept him out all season, and Reggie Favors, who suffered a sprained ankle. His injury kept him from playing in two games.

In spite of their record, Sophomore Head Coach Hobelmann felt the team gave its best showing in its bout with SMN. He stated, "Up until the beginning of the 4th quarter, it was the best game of the season."

2nd fastest composite time recorded by 1967 Jogdogs

This season Coach Swaim guided his 1967 Harriers to record a composite time of 49:55. It was the second fastest time in the history of cross-country at Wyandotte.

In their season's opener, the Wamego Invitationals, Big Red placed second out of 15 teams. Although Greg Carpenter took first place with a time of 9:26, Big Red ended up on the bottom of the pile in a meet against SMN, SMS and SMW.

With their third meet of the season came success as the Jogdogs defeated Washington, Topeka and Sumner. In their next four meets the Bulldog Harriers placed third, second, third and fourth, respectively.

Coach Swaim is aided by manager, Tim Balke, who checks the team's progress by keeping accurate records.

Duncan and Ward muscle way to first in Sunflower

Under the training of Head Coach Gary Roland, the Big Red Matdogs muscled their way to a season's record of 3-3. Highlighting their season, Mike Duncan and Sam Ward took first in the new Sunflower League Wrestling Meet. In their first meet of their second season, the Matdogs suffered a crushing defeat from Lawrence, with a score of 26-24. Not to be held down though, they came back to hand Argentine a defeat of 51-5. In every match the Bulldogs pinned their opponents, except in two that were won by referee decisions.

Big Red fell to their next two opponents, first to Topeka, 32-20, and then to Washington, 59-19. The Matdogs made their come back, however, in a meet with Rosedale, in which they defeated the Wildcats, 34-14. In their last meet the Bulldogs again showed their power by defeating the Argentine Mustangs, 44-5.

Records set by co-captains are Finmen's main highlight

Breaking the waves on nearly 250 miles of practice swimming, the Poolpups' payoff came in the many records they broke. Strong backing by Coach "Pinky" Harr proved to be a contributing factor.

In their first meet of the season, Co-captain Bob Wright proved to be the All-American he was when he set a new state, league, school and pool record in the 100-yard breaststroke. Second ever in the state to dip under the 4-minute mark in the 400-yard freestyle, Bob Wright accomplished this with a 3:59.8 time.

Steve Ulmer, the other half of the swim crew's captains, displayed his skill when he set a school record in the 100-yard butterfly and pool records in the 200- and 400-yard freestyle. Adding the 100-yard backstroke and the individual medley to his list, Steve set senior records in both.

Pouring on the speed against SMW, Steve Ulmer defends his state record in the 100-yard butterfly.

Finmen make clean sweep of State, Sunflower titles

They said it couldn't be done, but the Swimdogs proved them wrong when they not only stole the State Championship crown from Wichita East, but also retained their Sunflower title for the second year in a row.

Besides setting numerous records during the season, Co-Captains Bob Wright and Steve Ulmer added two more in the state meet in the 100-yard breaststroke and butterfly, respectively. In the Sunflower, the Finmen racked up 72 points and took six firsts to come out the victors.

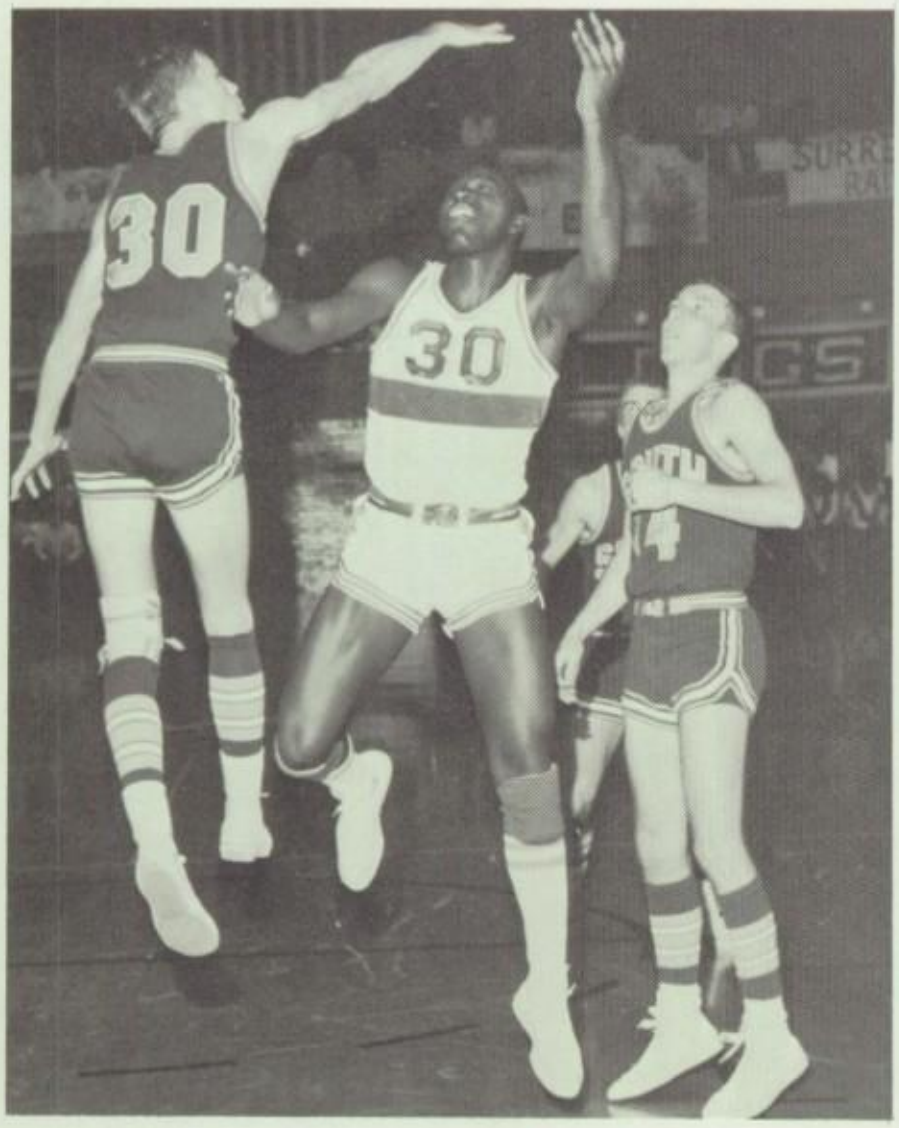
Bulldogs corral Mustangs 59-40 in season's opener

Coach Shublom began his 13th season as head coach of the Bulldogs by adding another victory to his record of 253 wins and 22 losses. Thomas supplied the key points and 6-foot-4 Williams supplied the height that led Big Red to a 59-40 opening victory over the Argentine Mustangs.

For the first time since 1955, the Bulldogs were defeated by Topeka, 58-53. The Red and White quintet was hard hit when Thomas and Williams, who was high point man, reached their personal foul limit and had to leave the game. Making a powerful comeback, the Canine Cagers handed the Washington Wildcats an overwhelming defeat with a score of 82-37. Then Big Red outscored, outshot and outrebounded the SMN Indians in a decisive victory. The cagers smashed North, 56-35.



Despite the blocking of an SMS Raider, John Hunter shoots and the score goes up another notch.

Growling pack of Bulldogs seize early lead on SME

After the long Christmas layoff, the Bulldogs came back, and in the same weekend added two more victories to their credit. The team effort of Thomas, Williams, Russell and Nichols sank 10 straight buckets in the final six minutes to secure the 73-54 decision over the SMW Vikings. The Lawrence Lions were the next victims of the Canine power when they were wiped out, 62-49.

The Bulldogs then dribbled over the SMS Raiders, 66-47. For awhile it was a contest within a contest as Williams and Thomas took turns tipping in. Williams was high-point man with 18 points.

The newspapers had to flip a coin to predict the winner of the Ward contest, and that is almost the way it had to be decided. Not until the final six seconds was it certain that the Ward Cyclones would be the victors. An intercepted toss-in closed the ballgame, 54-52.

Next the Canines bulldozed over the SME Lancers. After capturing a 10-point lead in the second quarter, the undergrads took over and carried the Bulldogs through to the top of a 79-48 victory.

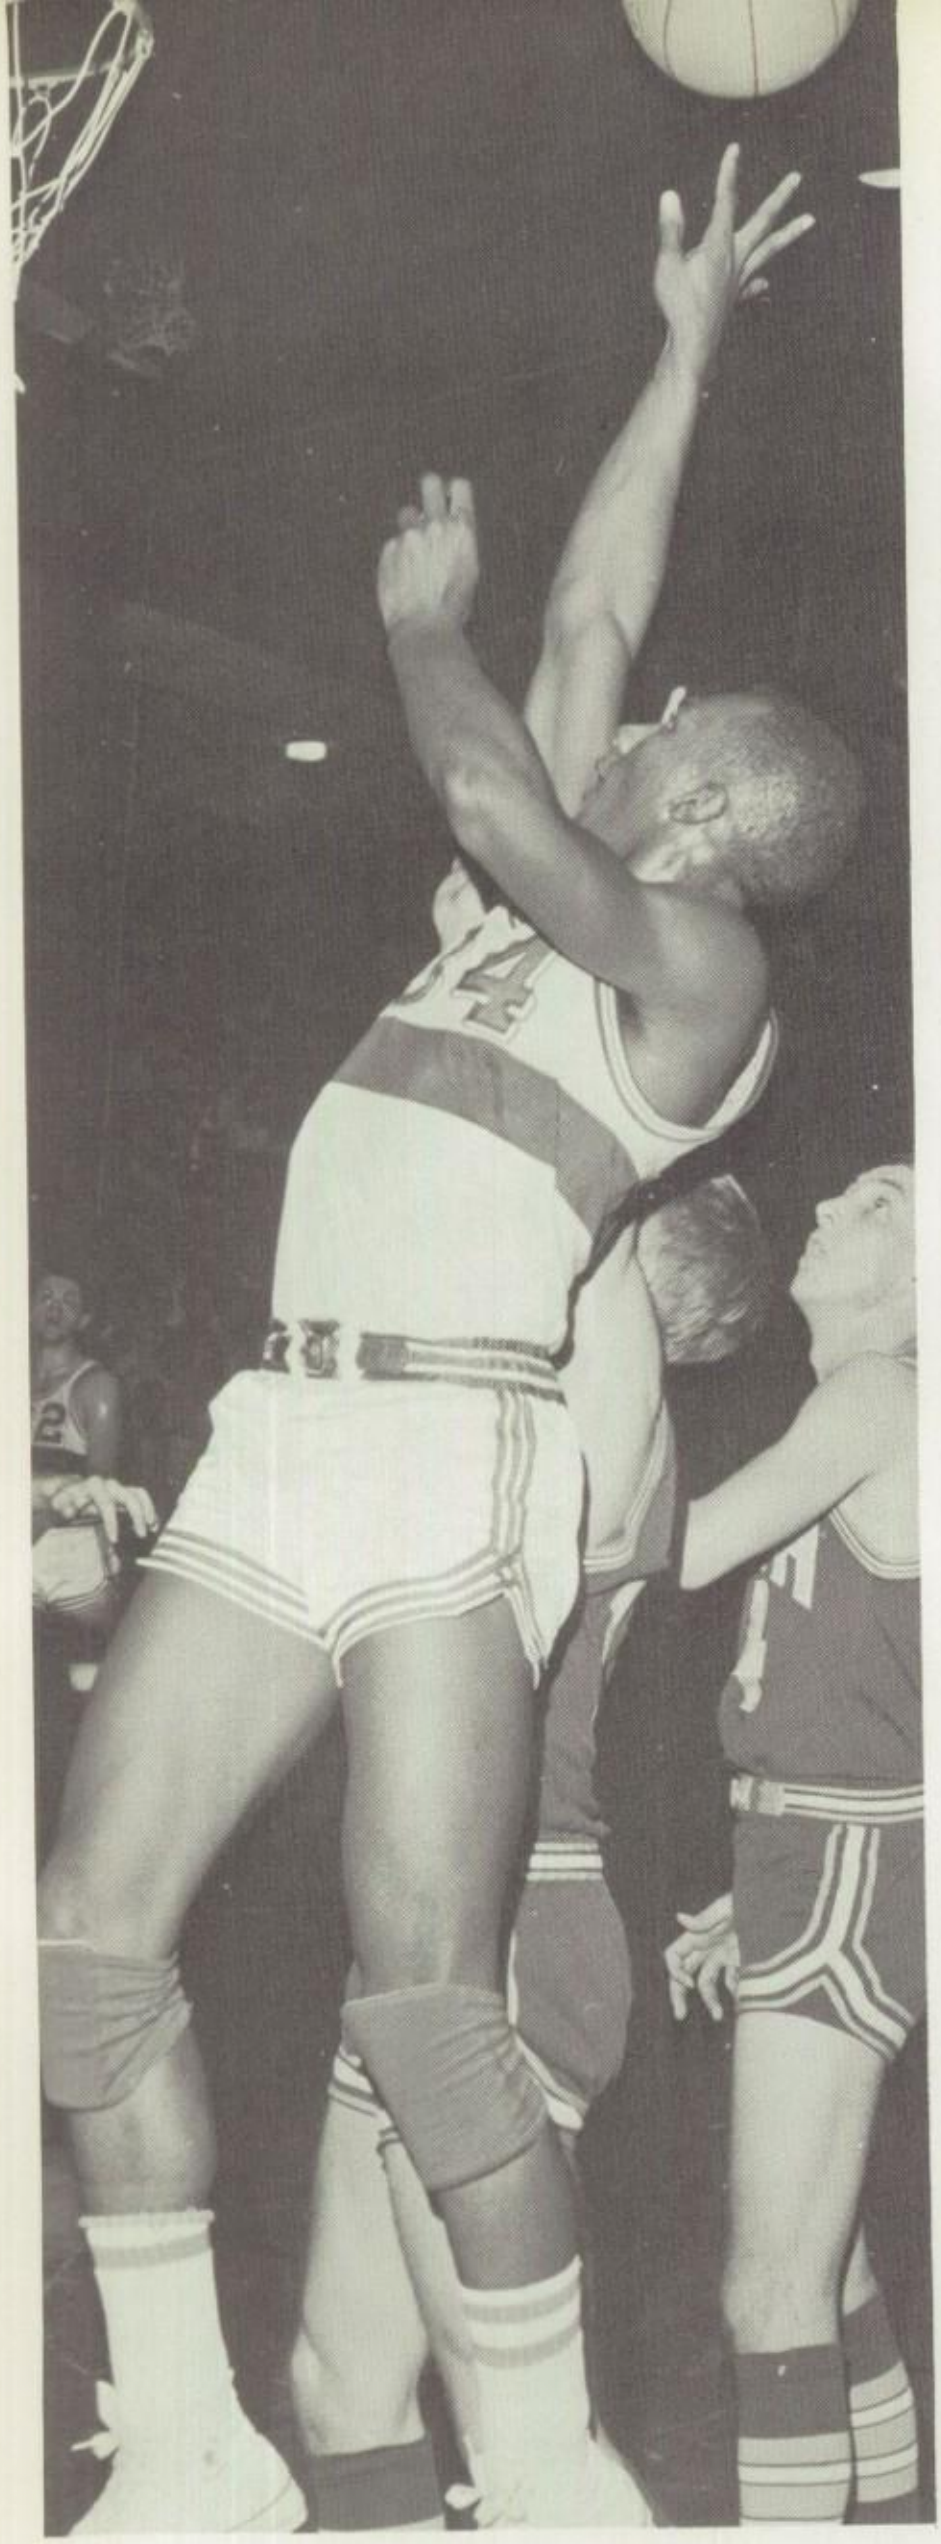
Bulldog cagers snap back; dribble past Topeka by 30

The "Big One" was marked for the first night of the Wyandotte Invitationals and the Bulldogs came out on top. Knocking the Sumner Spartans from the unbeaten rank, the Canines downed them, 59-50. After this first victory the tourney was cinched. The Canines took first place after defeating Wichita North, 64-48.

It was now or never, all or nothing for Big Red when they met Topeka for the second time, and the Cagers settled for nothing less than all. Blasting Topeka out of their own gym, 74-44, the Canines had three men who hit for 20 points or better. Also, for the second time the Bulldogs dribbled over the Washington Wildcats, 70-33.

Pushing just a little harder, Dave Nichols led the Bulldogs past a stubborn Topeka West, 59-48. Dave sank seven of his 15 points in the final 77 seconds.



Displaying skill and form, Alonzo Thomas is up for the shot in a game against SMS.

In the hands of the starting five lies the key to Wyandotte's success. A final "Let's go!" adds a boost to ready them for "the kill."

Overtopping a Topeka Trojan, Dave Nichols bags another rebound.

State, Regional, Sunflower trophies all claimed by Cagers

Sharp shooting allowed the Canines to stun the SM West Vikings, 81-52, while a tough defense eased them past Wichita East, 50-37. The victory was the Bulldogs' first over the Blue Aces on the losers' court.

In their second meeting with the SM East Lancers, the Bulldogs glided past, 71-44. Both Ron Russell and Walt Williams claimed 16 points. In their last tilt, the Canines overtook SM North, 60-49, and thus tied with Topeka for the Sunflower crown.

It was pegged the "toughest Regional in the State," but the Canines not only breezed through it but went on to claim the State title. It began with an 87-62 victory over Bishop Miege. All five starters hit in the double figures and compiled a seasonal high of 86 points. The next night the Bulldogs left "Ward Country" after downing the Cyclones, 66-50, and went to the State Tourney in Lawrence better known as "Wyandotte Country."

There the Cagers handed Pittsburg an 86-58 defeat and then slipped past Wichita East, 43-40. In the final night the Canines met their co-sharers of the Sunflower title, Topeka, and dribbled past them, 69-54, giving Big Red its tenth State title in the past 14 years. Ron Russell was voted the "most valuable player" of the tournament. He was the first junior to ever claim this honor.

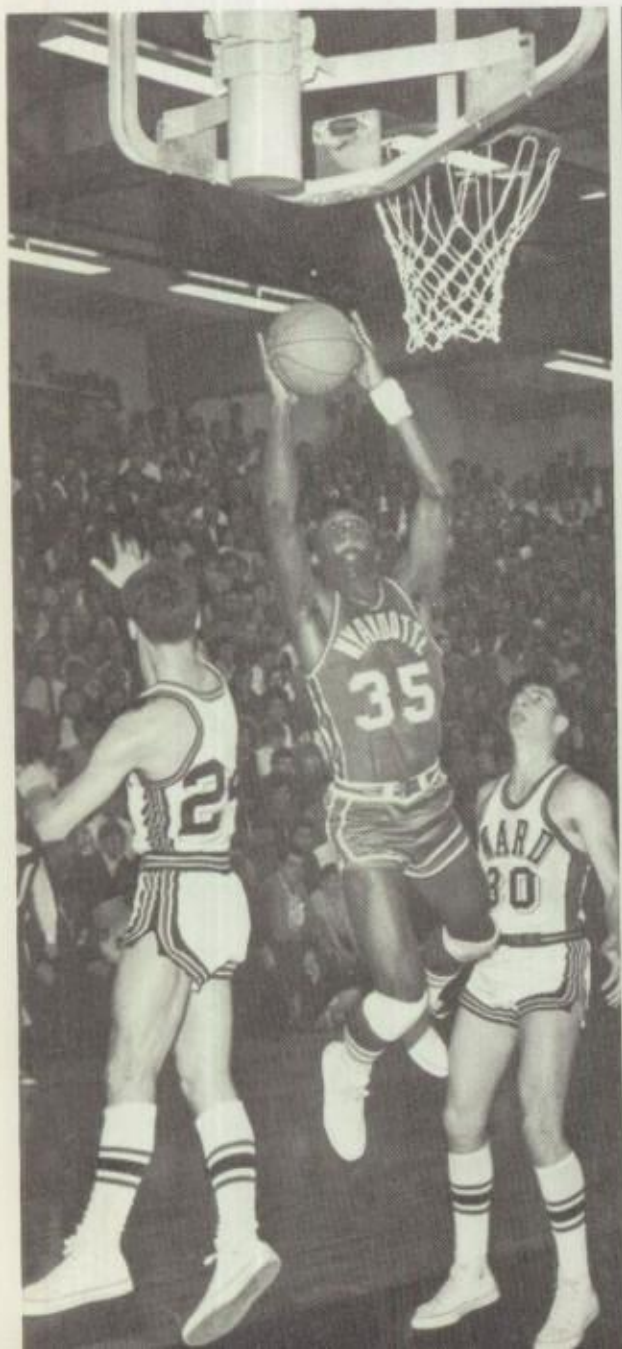
Team effort from Alonzo Thomas, who completes a lay-up for two points, and John Poindexter, who grabs a vital rebound, equals a Regional Trophy and a trip to State for the Wyandotte Bulldogs.



Traveling to the State AA Tournament, for the tenth time in 14 years, the Bulldogs emerged Number 1.

Sophomores lay claim to first flawless record in history

Defeating every team but Topeka, the Reserves finished with an impressive 15-1 record. The Bullpups averaged 58.4 points a game and compiled a total of 935 points to the opponents' 680. Leading scorers were sophomores, Richard Morsden, with 215 points and Glenn Russell, with 146 points.

"I thought we could go undefeated, but Topeka slipped us up," stated Coach Don Upson.

Polishing off the season with a 16-0 record, the 1968 Sophomore Basketball Team was the first in history to finish with a perfect record. Coached by Mr. Paul Palmer, the Bullpups averaged 60.8 points a game.

High scores were routine with the team and they scooped up as much as 81 points in the contest with the SMW Vikings. The team compiled 974 points for the season's total.

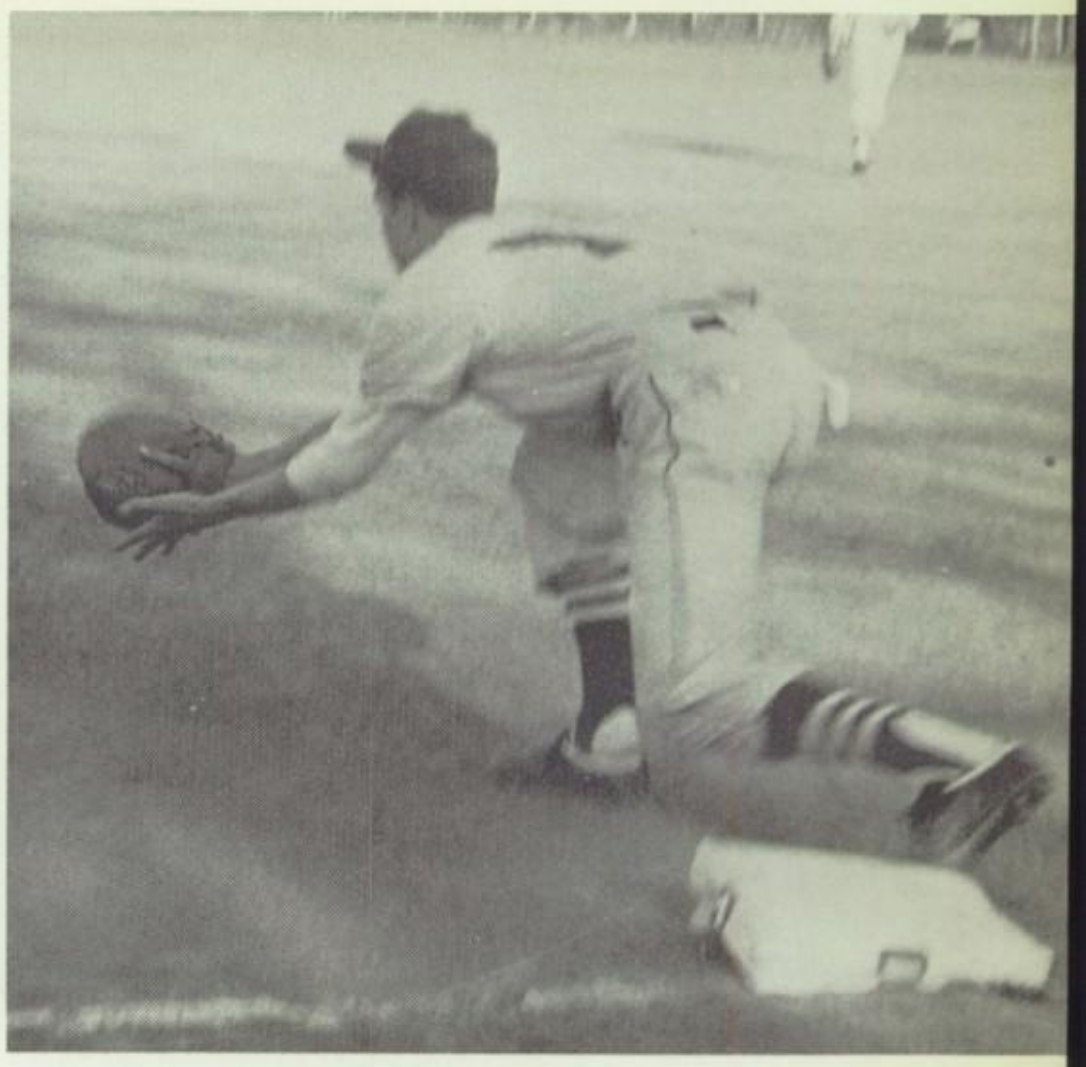
'67 Bat Men prove power; seize second in Regionals

Winding up 16 years of his baseball coaching career at Big Red, Coach Ed Ellis led his '66-'67 Baseball Team to a 7-3 season and a second in Regionals. The Batdogs have gone to State three times in the past six years.

Swinging into full operation in early March, the '66-'67 team hosted William Chrisman in the season's opener. To the dismay of the Batdogs, a 5-3 defeat was handed to them. A double-header with PemDay was next in line. With the score well set by the top of the sixth, the Canines were the victors in the first game, 9-0. Also in the second game the Batmen came out on top of a 9-1 outcome. With the aid of Jerry Bedell, who brought in two runs, the Canines presented Park Hill a 12-11 verdict in favor of the Bulldogs.



Ready on first to make the third out in the bottom of the fifth, Roy Oyer prepares to catch the ball.

Making a dive for the ball, '68 Tri-Captain Bill Blalock shows he has what it takes to be a good baseball player.

Long, hard hours of practice result in a good season and personal satisfaction.

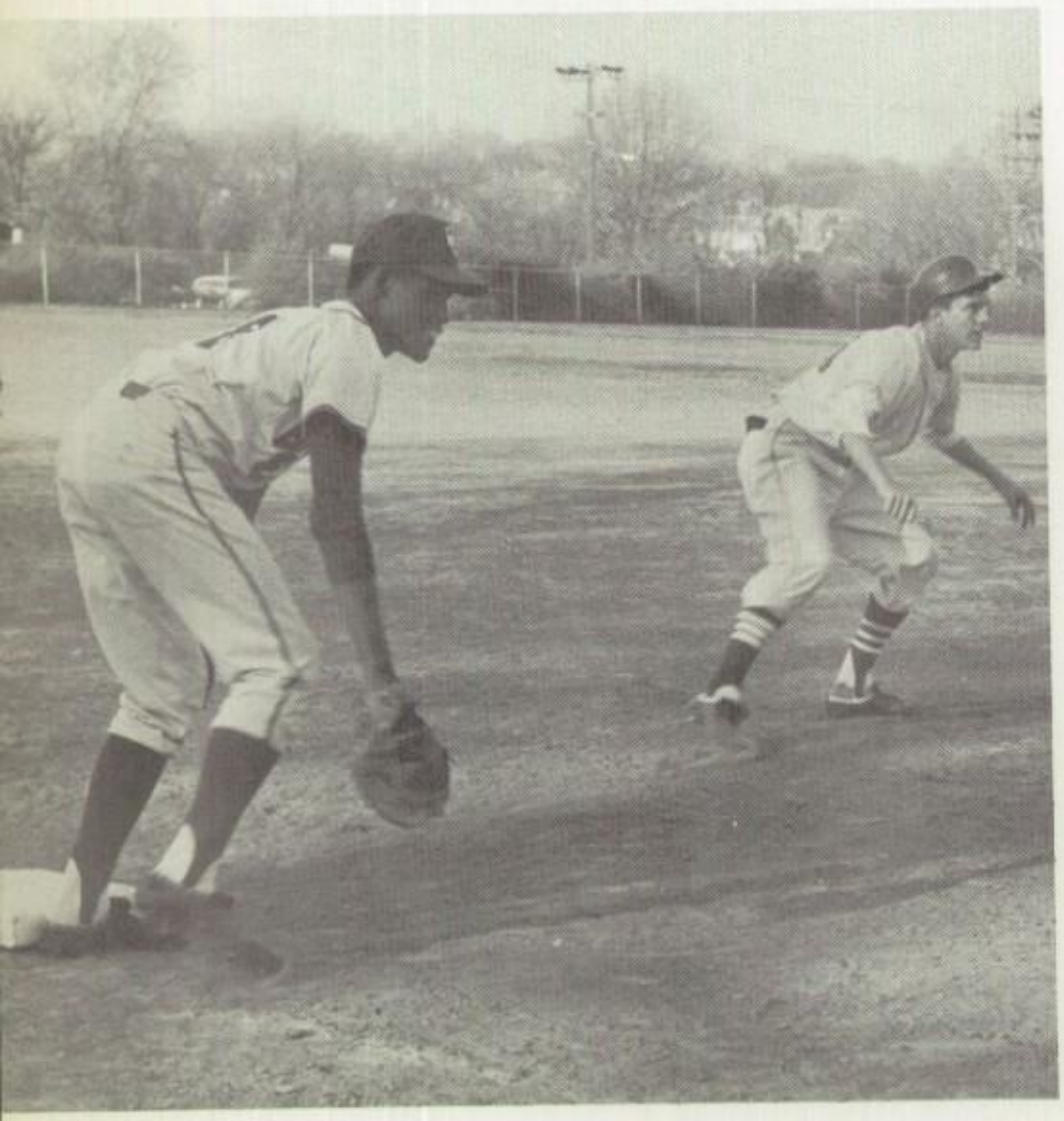
Waiting for the right moment, Roy Oyer takes a lead off base to steal from second to third.



A fast pitch but a hard hit sends Roy Oyer to first base and a runner into home for a score.

Seven game winning spree spoiled by Ward Cyclones

Continuing their winning streak, the Batdogs won the first game of a double-header with Washington. Lyle White was the hero when he sent a grand slam over the fence and polished the score, 3-2. In the second game, the Bulldogs were victorious, 3-1.

Tripping up Sumner 7-2 and 5-3, the Batdogs again came out smelling good in a double-header. Dan Rightmire hit the only homerun in the first game. After a seven game winning streak, the Batmen were slipped up twice by Ward, 2-1 and 6-0.

Record-breaking season for Big Red's Cinderdogs

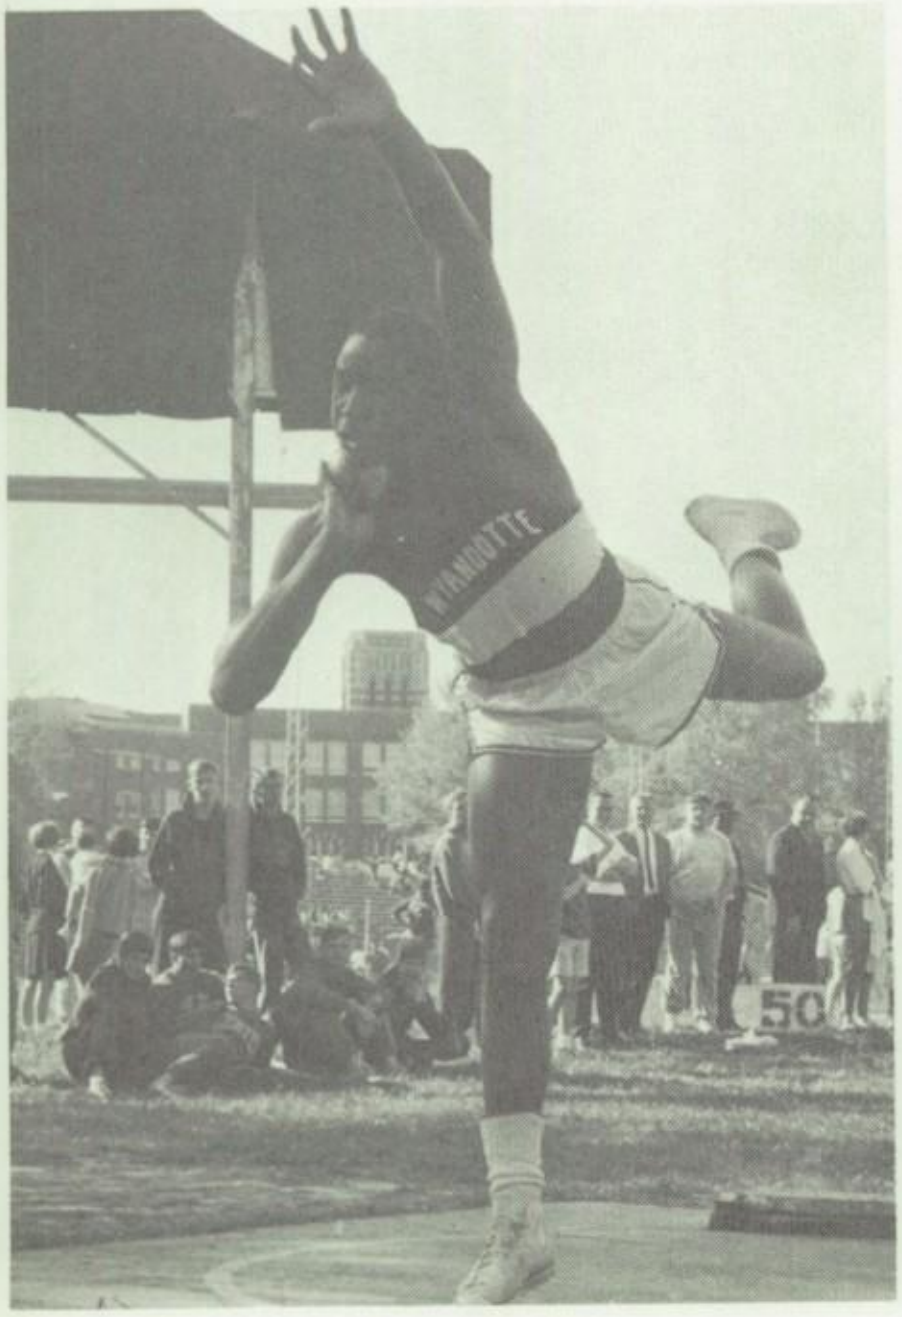
Records were broken time and time again as the Harriers progressed into the '66-'67 track season. Although Wyandotte placed fourth in the State AA meet, Head Coach Swaim stated, "At one time or another during the season we defeated every team in the state of Kansas."

Among the record breakers was Tyrone Browne, who set a new school record in the 880 with a time of 1:54.1. He went on to place first at State in the 440 with a time of :48.6, a new senior class record. Browne set a new school record of :48.6 in the 440 and was hailed the "second best runner in the state of Kansas."

Browne was not alone, for his teammate, Greg Carpenter, set a new school record in the two-mile run with a time of 9.20.6. Carpenter also placed third in the same event at the State AA meet with a 9.20.6.

Bishop Cunningham jumps over the high hurdles and places second by clocking a :16.5 at the Washington Relays.

John Hunter catapults the shot put 46 feet 4½ inches at the Wyandotte County Relays.



Blasting from the starting line, Walter Williams heads for a third place in the high hurdles at SMW.

Track Coaches: Wayne Hobelmann, Lester Ramsey, Clyde Strimple, Francis Swaim, James Holmstrom, Charles Redfield, Spencer King.

Medley relay team rated second best in the nation

National polls rated the '66-'67 medley relay team as the second best in the nation. They also placed second in the Kansas All-Time Bests. Teaming together, Johnson, Browne, Durbin and Harris made up both the medley and mile relay teams.

Likewise, the mile relay set a new school record of 3.18.8, as well as new Indoor and Outdoor records. It was also first in the Kansas All-Time Bests.

'4-team meets introduced but rain hampers season

Spring showers opened the '66-'67 tennis season and caused the postponement of a match with SM East. The better part of the season was hampered by these showers.

Tennis players were in store for a new treat last season as the "four-team meet" was established. This saved traveling expenses and time by holding combined meets instead of four separate meets.

Coach Ashley Elbl said, "Although successes were few, the boys learned valuable experience playing against top-flight competition."

Paul Starbuck begins his 13th season as golf coach

With the first golf match of the '66-'67 season, Mr. Paul Starbuck began his thirteenth year as coach of Wyandotte's golf team. Golf meets were held in two divisions, the four-man and the two-man.

In their first match, the Lawrence Invitationals, the four-man placed eleventh and the two-man fifth out of 12 teams. At Sunflower the four-man placed seventh and the two-man placed third out of eight teams.

Outstanding boys and girls selected as senior leaders

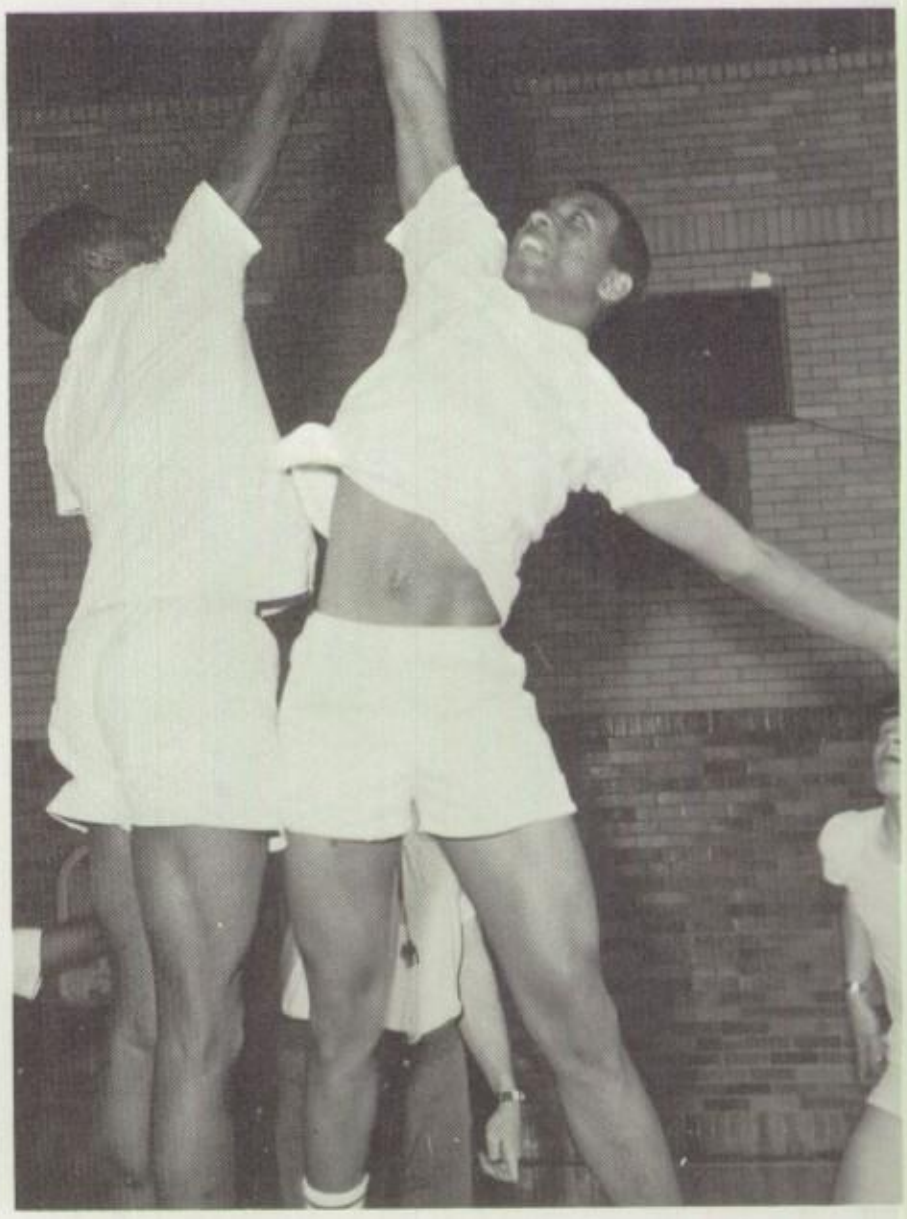
Chosen by the gym teachers on their abilities in the fields of gymnastics and leadership, over 50 girls and boys were selected as Senior Leaders. Throughout the year these seniors aided the gym teachers by checking attendance, recording grades and, occasionally, taking over the classes and leading them in exercises.

In another gymnastic endeavor, over 50 boys participated in the sophomore intramural program. This program gave sophomore boys who were not on the team a chance to play basketball twice a week in the evenings. During this 10-week program the coaches tried to increase the boys' appreciation for sports.

Because there was a Girls Athletic Association this year, there was no intramural program for the girls.

Surrounding the goal, the evening intramural team watches the ball go through during an intra-squad game.

The tip-off is grabbed by Charles Riley and he scores two during an intra-squad game.



With two yards and goal, senior leader Bill Blalock stands ready to officiate the play.

Sophomores are welcomed with orientation program

As summer drew to a close, curiosity and uncertainty filled the minds of 943 excited sophomores. The Girls League extended a helping hand to sophomore girls by sponsoring an orientation tour. Through an assembly entitled "Under the Big Red Top," the League also presented the clubs that girls could join during the year.

Heading the list of sophomore activities were class elections. Enthusiasm soared when preparations for their first paper sale began. Climaxing the year was the traditional class party.

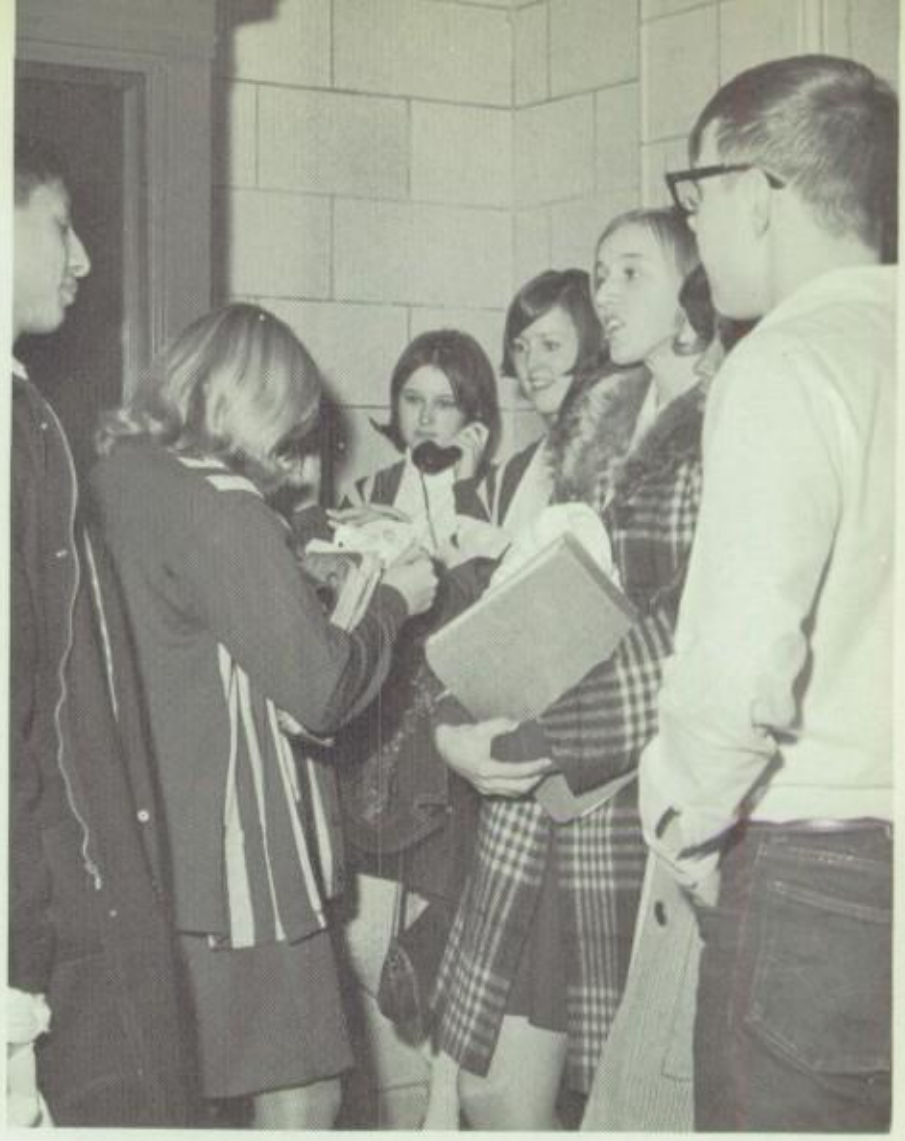
Largest sophomore class chooses a female president

Not wishing to break the traditions established by the two previous sophomore classes, the class of 1970 elected a girl, Debbi Dilley, as president. With the help of Mr. John Boyle, class sponsor, Debbi and the other officers planned a paper sale in January and a class party later in the year.

The class started off the year by being the largest class to enter Wyandotte with an enrollment of 943 students. Because of the large number of sophomores, classrooms became more crowded, and some study halls had to be held in the cafeteria.

To be assured of a general background in science, sophomores were required to take biology. Previously, they had been required to take only English and gym-health. By adding biology to their schedule, sophomores had only three elective classes.

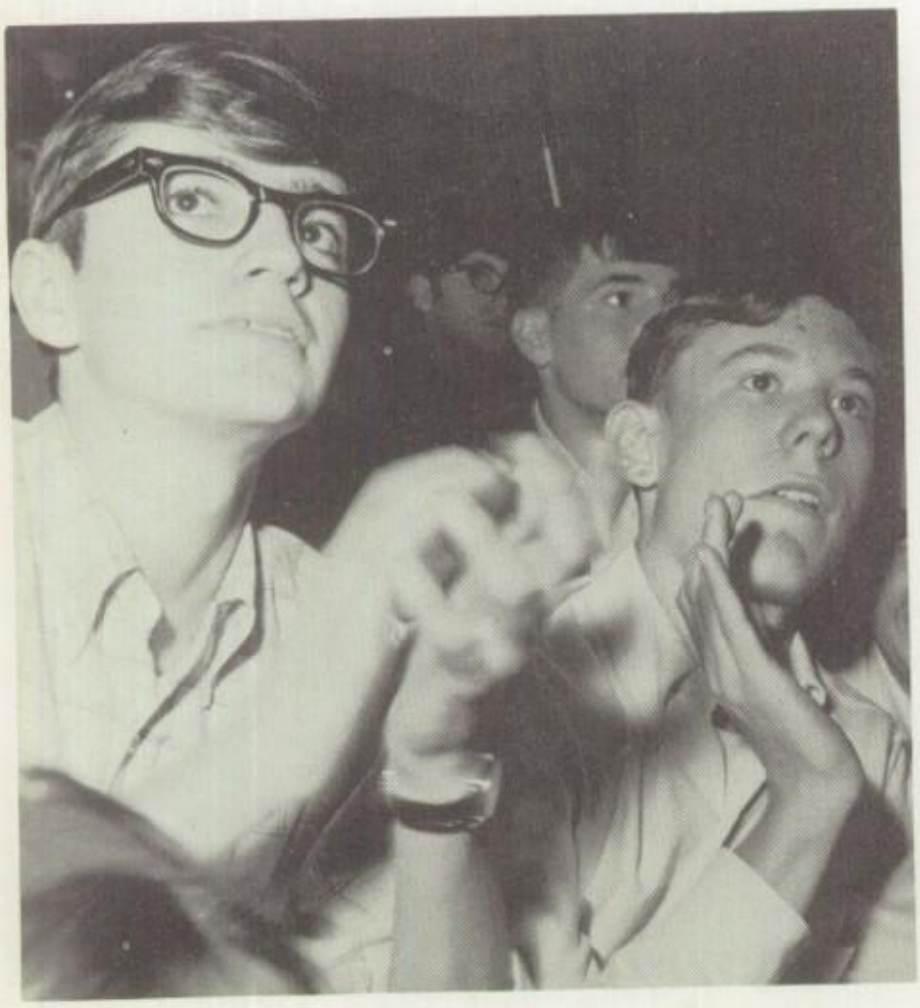


To avoid sub-zero weather and snow, these students call home for a ride after school.

Sophomore Officers: Karen Ruzick, secretary; Debbi Dilley, president; Dewey Owen, vice-president; Reggie Favors, sergeant-at-arms; Randy Kyle, treasurer; Larry Ure, recorder; Mr. John Boyle, sponsor.

Junior Officers—STANDING: Mary Lou Nothnagel, recorder; Rob Hassig, president; Richard Hernandez, treasurer; Mike Patton, sgt.-at-arms; Robert Schult, secretary. KNEELING: Bill Porter, vice-president.

Suspense mounts as Dennis Brown watches the Bulldogs cage a 59-40 basketball victory over Argentine.

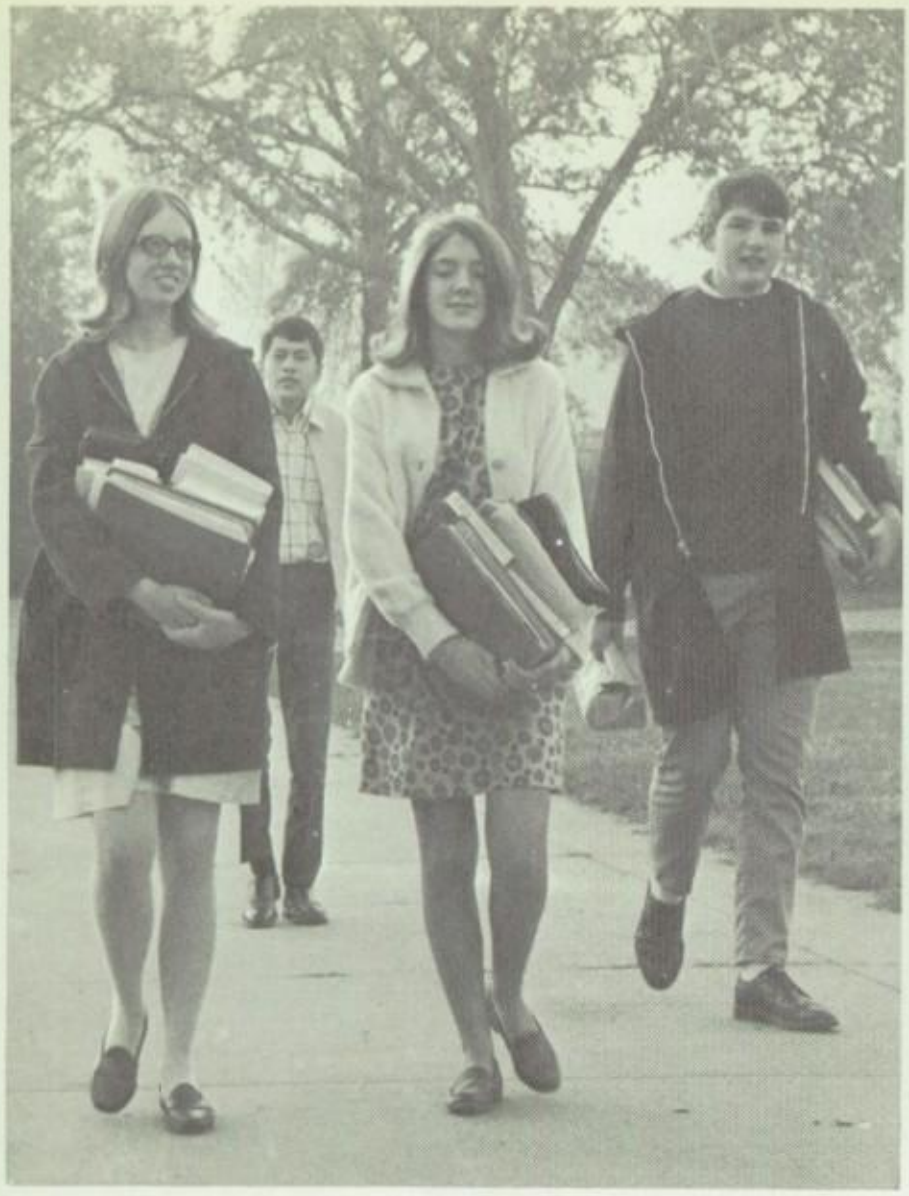


Juniors uphold class motto with enthusiasm and spirit

"We're the class that's really fine, we're the class of '69" was the motto the juniors chanted throughout the year. They upheld their motto by participating in various school and class activities, ranging from tests to money raising projects. For example, the juniors got a head start on class projects with an October paper sale which boosted their treasury by $240.

As a complete change, class rings were ordered at school and delivered in February. In the past they were ordered at Winkler's Jewelers and delivered in May.

The class of 1969 took part in the junior-senior basketball game and the traditional class party before taking on senior responsibilities with the Passing of the Robe ceremony.



A morning walk from the parking lot gives juniors a chance to talk about the "Love-in" at the Plaza.

To improve the appearance of a new Kay Cee uniform, Pattie Brown pins the hem of Linda Lea's jumper.

Helping to earn $800 for the 1968 Quiverian, Ramona Dunn and other yearbook cubs dry the 75th car during one of three car washes sponsored by the Quiverian staff last summer.

Showing his school spirit by using the Bulldog mascot, Rob Hassig begins his presidential campaign.

Over 1700 undergraduates work for upperclass status

Making up three-fourths of the student body, the underclassmen played a vital role in school life. The midclassmen began their second year of high school with offices and positions to exhibit their leadership ability. With the guidance of counselors, the '69ers faced the task of preparing for their senior year. College-bound juniors were provided with hopes of attaining scholarships by taking the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

The first few days of school created frustrating confusion to quite a few sophomores. However, this frustration soon subsided when the classes finally got under way. All tenth graders from the three junior highs, Northwest, West and Central, began to unite and refer to themselves as the class of 1970. Socially, the sophomores took their place at Wyandotte by joining any of the 64 organizations and supporting or taking part in various athletic teams. Thus, the underclassmen prepared themselves for upperclass status.

Squeezing into the crowded bus after school, underclassmen find protection from the chilly weather.

Waiting inside because of the rain, these juniors discuss where to go after the Christmas Formal.

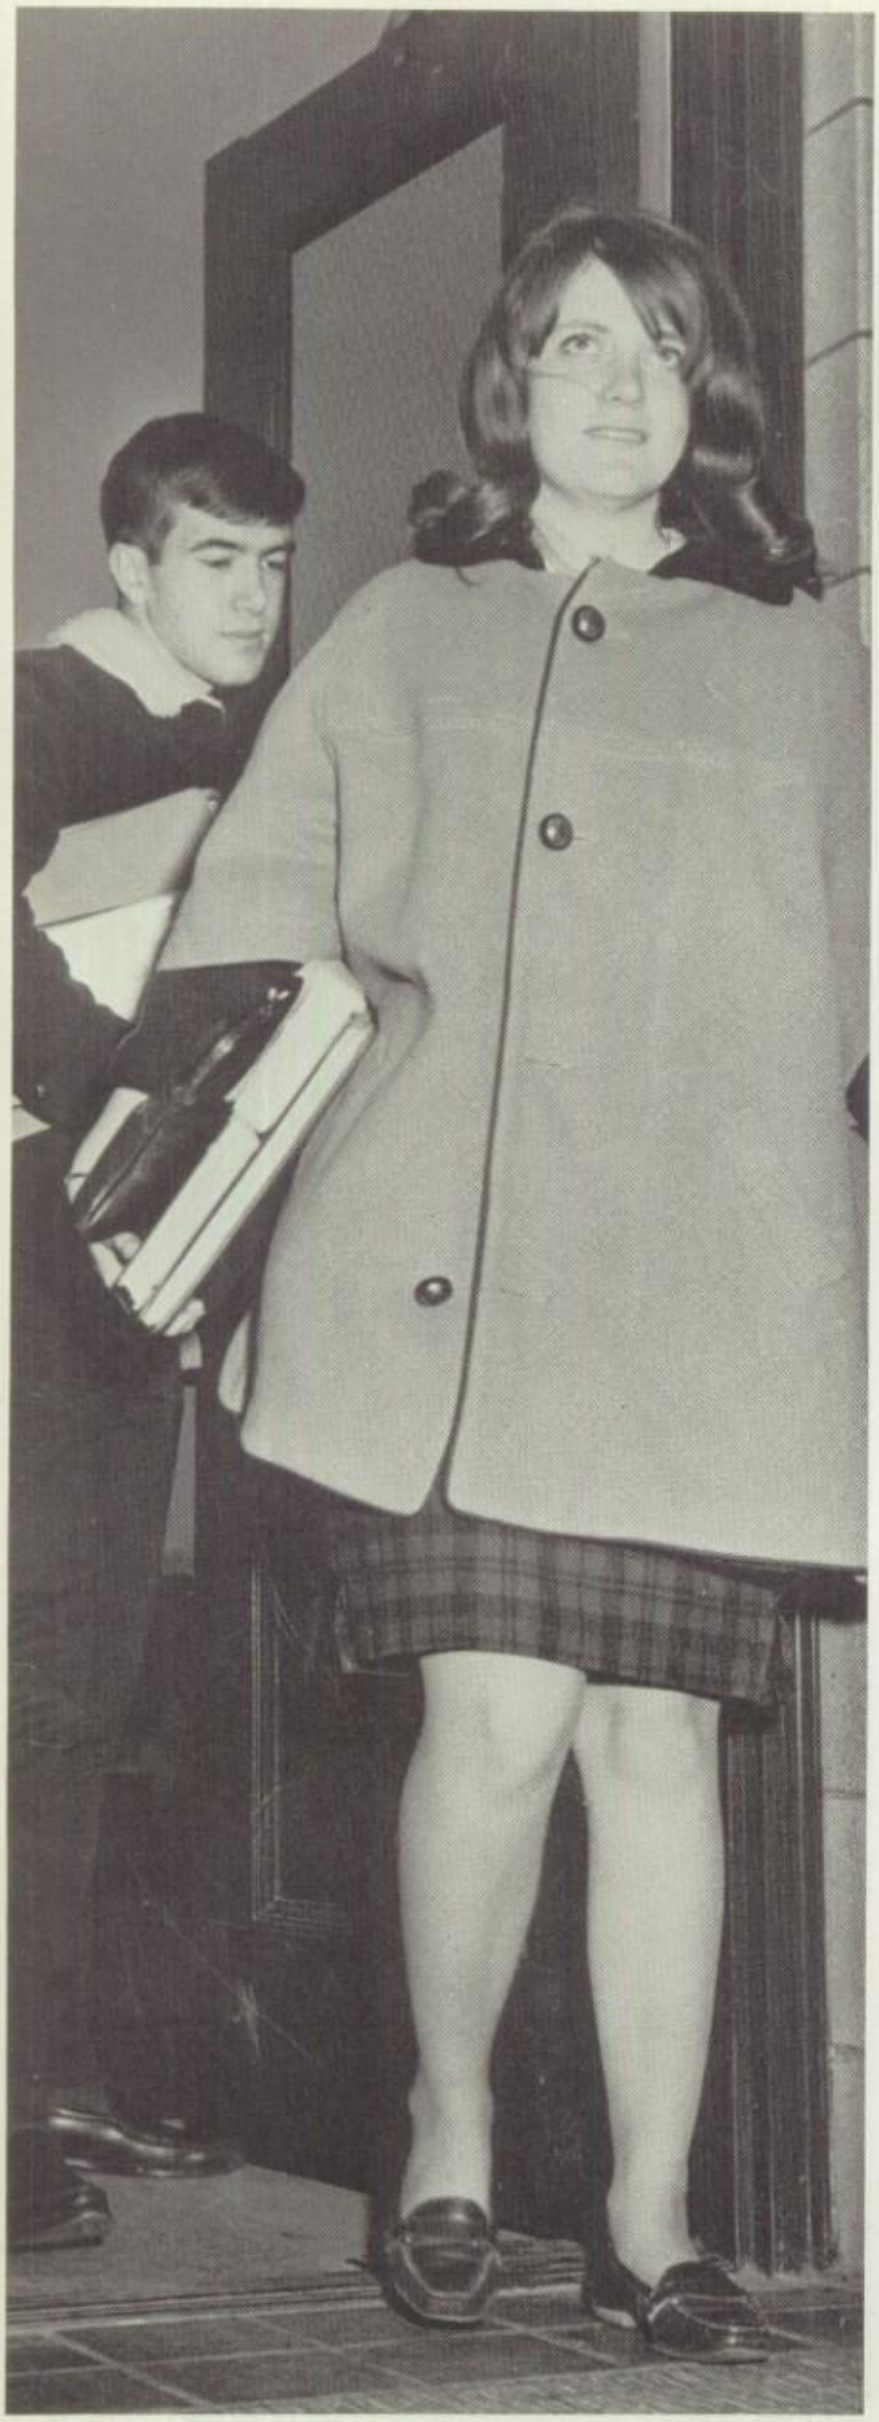
IT'S WHAT'S HAPPENING



Arriving at school, Mike Striggow and Pam Schmitz begin a day of classes, tests and club meetings.

Reading and researching for term papers, Pam and Mike use the public library for evening study.

Between classes, students rush to finish conversations before a last-minute dash to class.

Classes, clubs, homework fill an average senior day

Beginning a typical day at Big Red, seniors gathered in Social Hall. From there many seniors made use of homeroom period for finishing homework assignments or preparing for tests. Looking forward to the bell that ended sixth hour, the students hurried from classes to meetings or to see their friends who were eager to visit.

Especially for the college-bound seniors, homework and term papers were very important factors in many subjects. Reports often required many hours of research. In the evenings, the public library proved to have an appropriate atmosphere for such study.

After studying at the library, after a date or even after school, Peters was the popular spot for having a coke. Here the students met to conclude or to highlight a typical school day at Big Red.

Before homeroom, between classes and after school, Social Hall is alive with laughter and talking.

Pam and Mike end a school day as many Wyandotte students do. While drinking cokes, they are discussing the day's classes, the evening's homework and the up-coming Leap-Year Dance.

'London look' emphasizes contrasting colors, designs

Call it the "mod look," the "total look" or the "London look," but whatever it's called, it's what's happening in the '68 fashion world. Accordingly, senior girls kept in step with the times by wearing mini length sweaters, baby doll and pant dresses. Textured and colored hose accented short skirts, while contrasting colors were a must with "the pepsi generation."

For the boys, V-necked sweaters were popular in burgundy or blue, while their shoes were accented with browns. In winter, fleece-lined suede jackets and stocking caps were worn for casual, outdoor dress.

Falls and hair pieces make "Twiggy" cuts more versatile while stocking caps serve as ear warmers.

Although patterns are similar, plaids, stripes or polka dots create an individual look.

Saddle oxfords, wing-tips, loafers, desert boots, cube heels and simple flats highlight fashions.

Marylyn Waters wears her yellow "pant dress" with matching colored hose for a bowling date.

Since boxing is not Angier Duke's best sport, he challenges Anthony to a jujitsu match. While flying through the air, Anthony realizes that judo is not a very good replacement for boxing.

Cordelia becomes angry with Tony who has just given her boyfriend a black eye.

The Happiest Millionaire demonstrates senior talent

Seniors got a chance to compare their talents with those of Hollywood stars as they presented The Happiest Millionaire. The play, recently filmed by Walt Disney, centered around the Anthony J. Drexel Biddle residence, where Anthony Biddle's unusual hobbies and interests kept the play cast continually occupied. Some of the hobbies involved collecting prize fighters, ex-convicts, reformed drunks and alligators. Mr. William Knapp, drama sponsor, was assisted by Steve Weaver, student director.

CAST: Marsha Shelley, Emma; Keith Ketchell, John Lawless; John Mahomet, Livingston Biddle; Bruce Yancey, Joe Mancuso; Don Duy, Tony Biddle; Kathy Endorf, Cordelia Biddle; Gary Waters, Charlie Taylor; Dan Baxley, Anthony J. Drexel Biddle; Barbara Johnson, Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle; Sarah Harding, Aunt Mary Drexel; Kathy Hecke, Cousin Lucy Rittenhouse; De Miller, Angier Duke; Rick Golub, O'Malley; Kathy Burke, Mrs. Benjamin Duke; Bill Foster, Footman.

While directing, Steve Weaver and Mr. Knapp chuckle at a scene in the senior play.

With his Italian inflection, Joe Mancuso joins Anthony, who is practicing "The Marriage of Figaro."

Aunt Mary and Cousin Lucy have come to talk to the Drexel family about sending Cordelia away to school when they discover an alligator is loose because the conservatory door was left open.

Junior president, Dick Wetschensky, accepts the traditional robe from Tim Gabish, 1967 president.

Passing of traditional robe gives class responsibilities

Accepting the traditional robe from the class of 1967, Dick Wetschensky, Junior Class President, launched a busy year for the 1968 seniors. They began the year with a paper sale which netted them $190. Then an assembly was held in the auditorium to introduce the candidates for senior class officers.

May proved to be the most hectic month for senior activities with the Senior Breakfast, Senior Prom, Baccalaureate and graduation. The last day of school for seniors was May 21. On that day the breakfast was followed by the senior program and commencement practice. That evening, commencement exercises in the Memorial Hall brought the seniors' school year to a close.

Dave Nichols, candidate for president, explains, "I am a Bulldog not by chance, but by choice," as Jane Peters, Jeff Martin, Charlie Sage and John Poindexter join the audience's pleased reaction.

Professor and director of field services from Emporia, Dr. J. Weigand, answers seniors' questions.

At the November paper sale, Bill Dame and Travis Freeman eagerly help with the first class project.

National Honor recognizes students' accomplishments

On Good Friday of every year, excitement soars as seniors anxiously await the announcement of membership into National Honor Society. This year was no exception to that rule when some 100 seniors received their invitations in the mail. National Honor Society is one of the highest awards offered to Wyandotte seniors. Recognizing not only high scholastic standing but also leadership and character, membership was determined by faculty balloting.

In May, 15 percent of the upper fourth of the senior class was initiated into this honor society. A formal ceremony was held in the auditorium where each initiate lighted his torch and recited the Honor pledge. Each member received a National Honor Society pin from Mr. Corporon at an informal ceremony following the official announcement of membership.

At the reception following the National Honor ceremony, Marcia Lewis helps serve punch.

OUR FAVORITE PASTIME

Finding her load very heavy, Carol Roseberry, Editor, wishes she could drive all the way to the door.

It was a very good year

The cover and the color pictures are no longer secret. The reader can look back and wonder when that candid shot of him was taken. Juniors feel the prestige of being pictured individually, and sophomores want all their friends to sign the book.

Moreover, seniors look to the book as a remembrance of the class of '68. So, in keeping with the times, the QUIVERIAN Staff created a "mod" yearbook for its "mod" readers. Drawing layouts, taking pictures and writing copy all hinged around the words—NEW! NOW! and NEVER BEFORE! All this, the shocking new cover and the theme, IT'S WHAT'S HAPPENING, made the annual a true exponent of '68. We hope YOU like it!

However, without Mr. Olin Wilson, Mr. Wayne Ackermann and Miss Niki M. Economy our efforts would not have materialized. Sincerest thanks go to Mr. Wilson for our professional photography and to Mr. Ackermann of Inter-Collegiate Press for his production tips. And to Miss Economy, our faculty adviser, go the 15 rahs she has so long deserved. She helped us create a yearbook we are truly proud of. Also, to the staff, who worked so hard, and to the cubs, who worked during the summer and after school, I would like to say "Thank you!"

We end the school term infinitely wiser . . .
We are aware of the conflicts in the world and how they affect our lives . . .
Viet Nam, the tenseness
in the Middle East,
the riots at home.
We have thoughts,
opinions, carefully
developed plans . . .
We try to assume a minor but active role in the problems and decisions that will soon
be totally ours . . .
Yet, we cannot vote, we are not "adults" until we reach the "proper"
age of 21.
So we wait—but we never stop planning, we never stop voicing new concepts, we never give up . . .
We challenge the present to create a more peaceful tomorrow.
It's '68 . . .
IT'S WHAT'S
